15 BILLIONS NEEDED FOR WAR PROGRAM, BAKER ESTIMATES

Biggest Expenditures to Be in Ordnance Bureau and Quartermaster's Department, He Says.

IN SESSION WITH HOUSE COMMITTEE

Declares Liberty Motor Is Being Product in Quantities, and Is Sought Also by Allied Governments.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (By A. P.).—Details estimates of funds needed for all branches of the army service were submitted to the House Military Committee in an executive session today by Secretary Baker and his aides. The Secretary yesterday asked the committee for unlimited authority as to the number of men that may be put into service. Secretary Baker's estimates for the immediate war program, as submitted to the Military Committee, total approximately $15,000,000,000, he said today. The principal increases are in the Ordnance Bureau and the Quartermaster-General's Department. The Secretary said the airplane program had not met expectations, and attributed the situation to over-confidence of the Government and lack of ability of contractors to fulfill their contracts as speedily as they had promised. He said the Liberty motor was beginning to be produced in quantity and that it was an unqualified success, so much so that foreign governments wanted to use it. He told of the needs of various bureaus, in the light of the knowledge he obtained in Europe. His trip, he said, opened his eyes to the magnitude of operations. The hearings will be resumed Monday and the committee plans to report the bill to the House the last of next week. The War Department has made an effort to push its bill providing authority to commandeer property for war purposes. Secretary Baker, as a result of opposition in the Senate Military Committee, today wrote Chairman Chamberlain that the legislation is needed for the department to obtain summer hotels and boarding houses for war workers. While Secretary Baker was discussing army expansion, Secretary Daniels and his chief aids were outlining the navy's needs to the Senate Naval Committee in connection with the $1,358,000,000 naval appropriation bill passed by the House.

PRESIDENT REVIEWING DEATH SENTENCE OF 4 SOLDIERS

Complete Record of Courtmartial in France Before Him for Final Decision.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (By A. P.).—A complete record of the courtmartial proceedings condemning to death four American soldiers in France is before President Wilson today for final decision. Two of the men were sentenced for sleeping at their posts and two were charged with disobeying orders. The President will take up the cases at once, it was announced.

6207 SKILLED MEN IN DRAFT CALLED FOR MAY 17

WASHINGTON, May 3 (By A. P.).—A call for 6207 skilled men in the draft for the National Army was sent out today by Provost Marshal Gen. Crowder. All states are included excepting New Jersey. It directs the movement of the men on May 17.

SENATE FOR HIGHER WHEAT

Insists on $2.50 a Bushel Price in Bill.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (By A. P.).—The Senate today again formally recorded itself in favor of increasing the Government minimum guaranteed price for wheat from $2 to $2.50 a bushel, despite rejection of the proposal by the House. It insisted the wheat clause in the agricultural appropriation bill, returning the measure to conference, but it generally was expected the proposal would die there.

American Sentenced for Drilling Irishmen

DUBLIN, May 3 (By A. P.).—William Pedler, an American citizen, was sentenced by a magistrate yesterday to four months' imprisonment for drilling men at night near Dublin. At the request of the military authorities the magistrate ordered Pedler deported after he had served the sentence.

St. Louis First City Above 500,000 to Exceed Bond Quota

St. Louis was officially proclaimed, in a Treasury Department announcement made last night, as having been the first city of more than 500,000 population to exceed its quota of Liberty Bond subscriptions. Notice of this achievement was received by William R. Compton, chairman of the campaign in the Eighth (St. Louis) Federal Reserve District. The other cities which had more than 500,000 population by the 1910 census, and which St. Louis has surpassed in its achievement, are New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, Baltimore and Pittsburgh. Detroit, which had less than 500,000 in 1910, though it doubtless has more than that number of inhabitants now, was not considered in the official awarding of the honor. Detroit has raised its quota.

FOCH COMMANDS ALL ALLIED ARMIES IN WEST

Military Authority Extended as Result of Italian Adhesion; War Council Results.

PARIS, May 3 (By A. P.).—The military authority of Gen. Foch, as a result of the Italian adhesion, has been extended to all the Western fronts, and the General now becomes Commander in Chief of all the allied armies in the West, says Marcel Hutin, in the Echo de Paris. Hutin saw Premier Clemenceau on his return from the meeting of the Supreme War Council at Abbeville. The Premier expressed satisfaction with the results of the conference. "And the situation at the front?" asked the writer. "Gen. Foch is very optimistic; that's all I can tell you," was the Premier's reply. Those present at the meeting at Abbeville included Premier David Lloyd George of England, Premier Vittorio Orlando of Italy, Viscount Milner, British Secretary of State for War, Gen. Foch, Commander in Chief of the allied armies in France; Gen. Sackville-West, Gen. Tasker H. Bliss, American representative of the council; Gen. Blom of the Versailles Committee, Major-General Henry H. Wilson, British Chief of Staff; Field Marshal Haig, Gen. Pershing, Gen. Petain, Vice Admiral Wemyss, British First Sea Lord, and Vice Admiral de Bon, chief of the French Naval Staff. During the two days in which the conference was in session all military questions of moment were examined and settled in the full assembly. The results obtained are unanimously regarded as most satisfactory.

ST. LOUIS LOAN PLEDGE TOTAL IS $39,650,350

Renewed Efforts to Increase Subscriptions Made After City Reaches Goal of Treasury Department.

DISTRICT IS 29 PER CENT OVER TOP

Tennessee Is Last State to Get in Honor Role—Memphis Only Big City Still Behind.

St. Louis subscriptions to the Third Liberty Loan reached a total of $39,650,350 today, following the achievement of the city in going "over the top" by subscribing its quota yesterday. The city's quota, exclusive of St. Louis County, is $39,107,350. The country, with a quota of $710,000, has oversubscribed the amount by 70 per cent, having raised $1,193,250. This makes a total for the metropolitan district, which includes the city and county, of $40,848,600, as compared with a quota of $39,817,350. The number of city subscribers is approximately 162,000, and those in the county 3634. "Raise All We Can," Says West. Thomas H. West, chairman of the campaign for the metropolitan division, said today that the city should not be satisfied with the mere raising of the quota, but should strive for the largest possible oversubscription. "The quota is merely the minimum fixed by the Government," he said. "The call is for all we can raise. We are not answering that call properly, unless we largely over-subscribe our quota." An individual subscription of $50,000 today came from E. C. Simmons, chairman of the board of the Simmons Hardware Co., besides a supplementary subscription of $100,000 from the company. The bombing of the city at 4:35 p. m. yesterday, in honor of the completion of the quota, was conducted in front of fire engine houses, and on Twelfth street and some other chief thoroughfares. There was such excitement in the downtown district, for a few moments, that business was practically suspended. Although an announcement had been made of the plan, many did not know the meaning of the noise. District Far Over Top. The Eighth (St. Louis) Federal Reserve District, including this city, showed an over-subscription of 29 per cent by yesterday's figures. The district's subscription at that time was $168,885,900, in comparison with its quota of $130,000,000. Tennessee, the last of the seven states, or parts of states, in the district, went over its quota yesterday. Memphis is still beneath its quota, but is expected to make it up before the close of the campaign. Of the 94 Missouri counties included in the district not including this city and St. Louis County, 58 are now reported as entitled to honor flags. The State has exceeded its allotment of number of sales by 25 per cent, the purchasers numbering 165,784, and has gone over its money quota by 39 per cent. Showing of States. The showing made by the different state sections in the district (Arkansas is the only entire State in the district) is as follows: Continued on Page 2, Column 3.

AVIATION STUDENT KILLED, PILOT SERIOUSLY INJURED

Airplane Falls 300 Feet at Post Field After Engine Stops.

LAWTON, Ok., May 3 (By A. P.).—Lieut. William Dean Thompson of the 253d field artillery, student observer at Post Field, was killed instantly, and Lieut. Foster Bailey, pilot, was injured seriously yesterday when their airplane fell 300 feet. The engine stopped when the men were doing a spiral and the pilot attempted to coast to a landing; the machine went into a tail spin, falling.

Thompson was married three weeks ago and his bride has been with him at Lawton. His mother lives at Eagle Pass, Tex.

FOURTH TRAINING CAMP

Revised Orders Received at Camp Funston.

CAMP FUNSTON, Kan., May 3 (Special).—There will be a fourth officers' training camp in the Eighty-ninth Division, according to revised orders received here today from Major-General McCain, Adjutant-General of the army. The fourth officers' camp had been called off in orders received Friday of last week. Officers connected with the school expect to be able to begin promptly May 15. The one radical change in the most recent order is that assigned officers may not be used as instructors. The personnel of the instructors will include only attached officers.

One of the best influences on your soldier camp is his home paper—he will think of you every time he breaks the wrapper. "Home Office of Central 6806 and order the Post-Dispatch for him."

ED WYNN SELLS $20,000 IN LIBERTY BONDS IN HOUR

Members of Comedian's Company Make First Payment on Several of Purchases.

Ed Wynn, comedian of the "Over the Top" company, which is appearing here this week, sold $20,000 worth of Liberty Bonds during the course of an hour's bright talk to a large crowd assembled in Twelfth street at Olive this afternoon. He was assisted by chorus girls from his company. Members of his company, near the close of the meeting, offered to pay $1 on each $50 bond bought, thus making the price to the subscriber $49.

While Wynn talked, told jokes and pleaded with his hearers to buy bonds, the chorus girls canvassed the crowd and led prospective purchasers through the throng to a Liberty Loan booth located near the street curb. Wynn recognized several friends among the gathering and persuaded them to buy.

One of the bonds, a the bargain price of $49, was taken by an elderly woman who announced that she had three sons in the service. A detachment of the Great Lakes Naval Training Station band played patriotic and popular airs.

ENGLISH CAPTAIN FINDS U. S. SOLDIERS "KEEN AS MUSTARD"

British Officer, Training Men at Camp Pike, Helping Loan Drive Here.

"Keen as mustard," the English equivalent of "Rarin' to go," is the way the American soldiers in training feel, according to Capt. T. W. Rawcliffe, M. C., of the British army, who has been training them since Nov. 1 at Camp Pike, Ark. He is in St. Louis for a few days, helping with the Liberty Loan drive, and he tells audiences that all the men who have come under his observation in the training camps are eager to learn and anxious to "go over" and will make mighty good soldiers.

Capt. Rawcliffe, who is 34 years old, was sent over here to teach the American soldiers how to use the trench mortars, the "glorified bombthrowers," as he calls them, with which he fought the Huns for 22 months in the battles of the Somme and Vimy Ridge and in trench warfare. He told something about his experiences at the Credit Men's banquet at the Red Cross workers at Tenth and Locust streets, yesterday noon, and at Soldan High school yesterday forenoon.

SAYS "GERMAN PIRATES" HAVE MURDERED 15,000 SEAMEN

President of Seamen and Firemen's Union Tells of His Organization's After-the-War Boycott Plans.

LONDON, May 3 (By A. P.).—Havelock Wilson, president of the Seamen and Firemen's Union, in a statement regarding the sacrifices of the mercantile marine, said that 15,000 British seamen have been murdered by German pirates during the war.

"Sea murders are growing because the enemy is more determined than ever that sailors in sunken ships should not live to tell the tale," he declared. "British sailors are in deadly earnest in their determination to apply a punitive boycott to Germany after the war. All are in hearty unanimity in their determination not to handle stuff in any way connected with Germany after war. A year ago the limit of the boycott was to apply to German goods. Now, owing to these crimes, it has been extended to five and one-half years. He added that the seamen's league was growing daily. Already it has 100,000 members.

ONE OF 6 DIFFERENT KINDS "CIRCUS ARMY" NOW IS USING AGAINST AMERICANS.

BY JOSEPH W. GRIGG, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch and New York World.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN THE FIELD, FRANCE, May 1.—Hindenburg's traveling circus army, which has been operating against the American front, has used six different kinds of gas mustard, tar, chlorine and arsenic, and so-called chocolate gas. Arsenic gas is the latest, and has won the name of chocolate because of its resemblance to this odiferous article of diet. Recently the Germans have sent over some so-called arsenic gas always following up with forgery or arsenic. Because of the shortage of chemicals it is believed that the Germans mean to use arsenic gas in large quantities from now on. German prisoners have stated that arsenic gas is the latest gas they have produced. The effect of this gas diet on our men was stated concisely by the Major in command of the troops who have recently been subjected to five varieties, who said: "It has added 60 per cent to our fighting strength."

I visited a rest billet today of some soldiers who were in the Seicheprey trench and foretold of a ball game were under way and every man looked fit after a bath. It was just the right kind of a morning for letter writers, and the American soldiers said second to none in this duty to home folk. The commanding officer was loud in his praise of his men.

"They're ready to get back into it again," he said. "Our boys are being tried in the furnace of fire and measuring up to it."

He said that part of the German propaganda among their own troops was to spread the idea that the Americans would shoot their prisoners.

"Thank you," was all the one wounded German could say to this officer when told he could not be shot, but would be placed in a hospital.

PRISONER SAYS GERMANS LOST HEAVILY AT SEICHEPREY.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, May 2 (By A. P.).—The unit of German shock troops which attacked the American position at Seicheprey, April 29, is said to have suffered more severely than it was at first believed. This information has been received from a German prisoner, who was brought in by one of the American patrols. He was a Red Cross man who assisted in the removal of the wounded and the burial of the dead after the engagement and told the American intelligence officers that the German

Bombardment Said to Be Most Violent in That Section in Three Years; Two Germans Desert.

BY CLAIR KENAMORE, A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Thursday, May 2 (By A. P.).—Lieut. James A. Meissner, whose home is in Brooklyn and who brought down his first German airplane today on the American front northwest of Toul, returned to his hangar to receive the congratulations of his comrades and to make his report with a thankful grin on his face. The Lieutenant is young and slight, and "tickled to death" that he has one enemy's scalp hanging to his belt.

The story of his exploit having trickled in over the telephone wire, the correspondent went to the Lieutenant's hangar. It had been reported that a wing of Meissner's machine had been torn off by his opponent's airplane.

"Impossible," said one of the members of Meissner's squadron before the young aviator had returned to his billet. "If the boche had really scraped Jimmy with his wing, we would have had to call on the Red Cross to make inquiries through Switzerland as to what happened to him. Just at that time Lieut. Meissner jumped out of an automobile and walked toward the group gathered about the hangar.

"The Blushing Aviator's Story. "Well, well! there's Jimmy," cried his companions as they ran out to meet him. All tried to grasp his hand at the same time and shake it, while many questions were hurled at the young aviator. The Lieutenant blushed and looked around as if at a loss how to begin. He briefly told an American story. An American wing, just as if bringing down a German machine was an every-day trick.

"Well," he said, "I saw him at about 5000 meters (about 15000 feet). There was another machine which I believe was a French one headed in the direction of the German. I just sailed in first, but the boche swung down toward the earth when I was just above him. I went down after him, firing all the time. Then he straightened out and, turning his wing point quickly, rammed my wing, but as that was happening I cut loose with my gun again. Smoke came from the German machine, which headed for the interior of Germany, and we both were soon over his territory.

"And there you are."

"I thought that might be some sort of camouflage for a getaway, for they tell me the Germans are full of tricks, so I kept right on his tail. Then he began to drop, real red flames streaming from him. I knew that I had him and that I had fired 200 shots, but I also knew my machine was damaged. So I turned around and headed for home. I thought I had better come down safely inside our lines, so I did it, and there you are."

Then the Lieutenant went over and told his mechanic about it. The pair stood beside another airplane on the wing of which had been pasted as "Hoodoo chaser" a Liberty poster, showing Liberty waving the American flag over the heads of the American soldiers, and bearing the inscription: "Fight or buy Liberty Bonds."

Lieut. Meissner is 31 years old and a graduate of Cornell. He came to France a few months ago and qualified as a pilot. He was flying a biplane when he was protecting a photographing plane the German plane came in sight. The day was brilliant with sunshine. Meissner was flying in a speedy Nieuport chaser.

PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS DEFERRED UNTIL AFTER WAR

River des Peres Work Put Off, Wash Grade Crossing Abolished Postponed.

The Board of Public Service today approved a letter written by President Kinsey to the Federal Reserve Agent Martin informing him that the board some time ago decided to defer until after the war all public improvements requiring large expenditures of money and materials unless vitally necessary. The letter is in answer to one from Martin urging that this be done in order to avoid sapping financial vitality.

Kinsey mentions in his letter that the deferred improvements aggregate $14,370,000, including streets and alleys, $1,200,000; sewers, $4,100,000; River des Peres improvement, $7,000,000; new hospital building, $250,000; Fourteenth street viaduct, $300,000; abolition of Wash grade crossings west of Forest Park, $1,500,000.

TWO ST. LOUIS DOCTORS ARE PRISONERS OF GERMANS

Lieut. H. A. Goodrich and Capt. J. F. Hardesty, Reported as Missing, Are Well, Relatives Are Informed.

Lieut. Harold A. Goodrich, 29 years old, of Webster Groves, and Capt. John F. Hardesty, 30, of 3206 California avenue, the first St. Louis physicians to be reported missing in action, have been captured by the Germans and are well, according to information received by relatives from the War Department and Red Cross. They were reported missing in a casualty list published by the War Department on April 14.

It is thought that they were members of advanced dressing station medical units which fell into the enemy's hands in the recent retirement of the British forces in Flanders. Dr. Goodrich was at a first line dressing station in Flanders for nine months, and Dr. Hardesty also was with the British in Flanders.

MAJ.-GEN. JAMES W. McANDREW PERSHING'S CHIEF OF STAFF

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, May 3 (By A. P.).—Major-General James W. McAndrews has been appointed chief of staff of the American Expeditionary Forces, assuming his duties immediately.

Brigadier-General James G. Harbord, who has been Gen. Pershing's chief of staff, has been assigned to a command in the field, which he will take over this week.

MRS. LOUIS CELLADIES 4 DAYS AFTER HUSBAND

Her Share of $12,000,000 Estate Probably Will Go to Collateral Heirs.

Mrs. Agnes Johnson Cella, widow of Louis A. Cella, who was reputed to be the largest holder of downtown St. Louis real estate, died of heart trouble at 9:45 a. m. today at St. Luke's Hospital. Cella died after a typhoid-malaria Monday and was buried yesterday. He left an estate estimated to be valued at $12,000,000.

Before her marriage to Cella, more than twenty years ago, Mrs. Cella was employed in a shoe factory near a saloon which Cella owned at Twenty-first street and Washington avenue. This was before he accumulated a fortune.

Under the law at least one half of the fortune became hers at the death of her husband and it is believed her portion will now go to her collateral heirs, as the Cellas had children. Their home, Wilwood, on the Crece Coeur Lake line in St. Louis County, is a beautiful 40-room mansion, with a garage which is said to have cost $75,000. The estate also includes much choice downtown property, including hotels, theaters and valuable business corners.

Cella's will has not yet been filed for probate. Under the law she would have had the right to reject the will if it was procured by fraud or less than her dower right. Since her husband's death she has not been in physical condition to accept or reject the provisions of her husband's will, but lawyers say this will not affect the right of her heirs to inherit her dower share, amounting to one half of the estate.

Mrs. Cella's nearest relatives are an uncle, William Morgan of 4533 Marfitt avenue, and two aunts, Mrs. Ellen Redding and Mrs. Nona Murphy, who live at 4533 Cottage avenue. One of Mrs. Cella's cousins, William J. Donnellan, 2005 Easton avenue, is doorman at the Grand Opera House, which Cella controlled. Mrs. Mary Flynn, 5549 North Market street, and Mrs. Nellie McDaniel, 2119 Eugene street, are cousins.

Mrs. Flynn's small daughter, Elizabeth, lived with the Cellas at their St. Louis County home.

BRITISH GAIN IN NIGHT FIGHTING IN SOMME SECTOR

Artillery Fire Develops Considerable Intensity Near Loos and South of Ypres.

LONDON, May 3 (By A. P.).—In the neighborhood of Villers-Bretonneux on the front before Amiens the British gained the advantage in local fighting during the night. The War Office announced.

On the northern front there was active artillery fighting, especially near Giverny, the forest of Nieppe, Loos and south of Ypres.

The statement reads: "Local fighting took place to our advantage last night in the neighborhood of Villers-Bretonneux. We carried out successful raids south of Arras and east of St. Yvonne in the course of which 18 prisoners and five machine guns were captured by our troops."

"The artillery has been active on both sides during the night between Giverny and the forest de Nieppe."

ENEMY'S GUN FIRE INCREASES IN NORTH

Germans Bombard British Lines Near Giverny, Nieppe Forest, Loos and South of Ypres—Raiding Operations Continue.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, via Ottawa, May 3 (By A. P.).—A tremendous crescendo of gunfire has broken out this morning, the principal increase being apparently in the Lys region.

PARIS, May 3 (By A. P.).—The French made an attack late yesterday on the front between Hailes and Castel, southeast of Amiens, and captured Hill 82 and a wood on the Avre River near by, the War Office announced today.

The statement follows: "In the region south of Villers-Bretonneux there was violent artillery firing by both of the combatants as well as fairly spirited infantry engagements near the monument, in the course of which the French troops gained some ground."

"South of the Avre the French late yesterday carried out a local operation which met with perfect success. Our troops attacked the German positions between Hailes and Castel (a front of about one and one-quarter miles). We took possession of Hill 82 and the wood bordering on the Avre. The number of prisoners taken exceeds 100, including four officers."

"In the region of the Allote—the French repulsed a German-raiding party. French reconnoitering detachments were active, especially in the Woevre and in Lorraine, sniping back prisoners."

Hill 82 is an eminence of 350 feet overlooking the Avre. It was at Hailes that the Germans effected their greatest westward penetration in their Amiens drive, and at Hill 82 they were walled off a local operation of defense appears to have been the work of the French. The positions of the British on the Villers-Bretonneux Ridge preserve the continuity of the line on the commanding ground at virtually all the vital spots north of the Somme.

ARTILLERY FIRE DEVELOPS CONSIDERABLE INTENSITY NEAR LOOS AND SOUTH OF YPRES

LONDON, May 3 (By A. P.).—In the neighborhood of Villers-Bretonneux on the front before Amiens the British gained the advantage in local fighting during the night. The War Office announced.

British Lose Nine Guns in Fight on Banks of River Jordan.

LONDON, May 3 (By A. P.).—An official statement dealing with military operations in Palestine issued yesterday said:

"On Wednesday morning, while our infantry moved to attack the enemy in the foothills south and southeast of Be-Salt, Australian mounted troops entered Be-Salt, capturing 33 Germans and 317 Turkish prisoners.

"In the course of these operations a mounted brigade, debouched to watch the Jordan crossings, was attacked by a superior force of the enemy which had crossed the river during the night, and was compelled to fall back. Horse artillery batteries supporting this brigade in the most difficult and broken country were obliged to abandon nine guns which could not be saved, although the detachments and horses were safely withdrawn. Necessary support for the detached brigade was immediately given and the operations are continuing.

"West of the Jordan local enemy attacks at several points were repulsed during Tuesday night."

Last Night's Reports From Battle Front

LONDON, May 3 (By A. P.).—Field Marshal Haig's report issued last night said:

"A raid which the enemy attempted this morning in the neighborhood of Hebuterne was repulsed. Except for the usual artillery activity, there is nothing to report."

PARIS, May 3.—The War Office announcement of last night read:

"Both armies were quite active north and south of the Aisne. Last night our troops made an appreciable advance in Hamard wood."

"This morning we carried out local operations which enabled us to occupy Baune wood, southwest of Mailly-Raineval. We took about 30 prisoners, including one officer, and captured five machine guns."

BERLIN, via London, May 3.—The official statement, issued yesterday, said:

"On the battle fronts the situation is unchanged. The artillery activity increased in the Mont Kemmel sector and it repeatedly revived between the Somme and the Lucebrook, near Montdidier, Lassigny and Novon."

"The French artillery was lively during the afternoon hours on the Lorraine front; minor enemy thrusts were repulsed."

Bolshevik Organ Points Out Advantage to Allies of Recognition of Soviet.

MOSCOW, Thursday, April 25 (By A. P.).—Discussing recognition of the Russian Government by the Allied Powers, the Bolshevik newspaper Izvestia says:

"Recognition of the Soviet power, by the Allies will help immediately to establish business contact with Russia, America, England and France relative to the equipment of the Red army, the financing of the country, co-ordination of action and settlement of questions of international policy. All that would be a direct blow at German imperialism and German orientation in Russia."

Nouens, French Ambassador to Russia, in an interview recently, said that Germany was trying to gain economic control of all Russia and that, if the allies, in response to that menace, were constrained to take military action, it would be friendly assistance without thought of conquest or interference in the internal affairs of Russia. Foreign Minister Tchitcherine, in a statement in reply, declared that such assistance was not desired by the Russian masses, who would regard it as an armed invasion.

Friction Over Ambiguous Wording of Brest Treaty.

MOSCOW, Thursday, April 25, via Vladivostok (By A. P.).—The ambiguous wording of the Brest-Litovsk peace treaty is causing considerable friction and a constant exchange of protests.

The provision relating to Russian warships, stipulating their transfer to Russian ports or their disarmament, Germany interprets as obliging them not to leave ports and not to cruise in territorial waters.

Tchitcherine, the Foreign Minister, objected to this interpretation and suggested that a commission be appointed to settle the dispute. This was accepted by Germany and the commission will meet in Berlin.

At the same time Tchitcherine demanded a guarantee that the Black Sea fleet, a report of whose capture by the Germans had not been confirmed, be given immunity in the Crimea.

Germany has refused to admit to the territories occupied by her 300,000 surviving refugees who are gathered near the frontiers as requested repeatedly by the Russian Foreign Minister.

A Clear Reflection!

"As in a Mirror," St. Louis merchants' advertising yesterday in a big Thursday POST-DISPATCH reflected their overwhelming preference for the "One Big Newspaper."

PAROLED AS ESSENTIAL TO CANNING ENTERPRISE

H. A. Nelson Released From Workhouse on Plea He Is Needed in Government Work.

Harry A. Nelson, formerly of 4441 Forest Park boulevard, who has served two weeks of a one-year sentence in the workhouse, was released today on a parole granted by Judge Davis, chiefly on the plea of business men who declared that his experience and knowledge was essential in the establishing and managing of a new canning enterprise which is to supply food products under Government contracts.

Nelson was convicted in March, 1916, of obtaining money by the issuance of false warehouse certificates. The State National Bank loaned him $15,000 on such certificates.

His sentence was stayed by an appeal to the Supreme Court, but his appeal was dismissed recently, and he had to go to the workhouse.

Nelson obtained the money, it was shown in his trial, by means of warehouse certificates for shipments of vinegar which proved not to have been made.

Charles F. Hartzel, head of a canning firm which has taken over the property of a brewery in Evansville, Ind., closed because of the prohibition law in that State, wrote to Judge Davis saying that Nelson was needed to supervise the conversion of the brewery into a cannery.

He has been giving directions for this work, by letters and long-distance telephone messages, while in the workhouse.

Nelson is about 35 years old, and has a wife and family. He formerly lived in Charlottesville, Va.

In view of the fact that the prisoner gave other information of a definite character, the intelligence of officers seemed to believe his statements relative to the German casualties.

Aside from subnormal artillery activity the American sector has been extremely quiet during the last 36 hours. The Germans, however, are doing much work behind their lines and it is expected that fighting will be resumed at any time.

Mrs. Cella was about 45 years old. Her husband was 51. Both were taken to the hospital about the same time, ten weeks ago, and Mrs. Cella's room there adjoined her husband's. She was unconscious before his death and he had died. She will be buried beside him in Calvary cemetery.

2 ARRESTS ON COMPLAINT OF GROUND GLASS IN BREAD

Austrian, Proprietor of Bakery, and His Baker, a German, Held on Woman's Story.

Florence Kopples, 29 years old, a native of Austria, proprietor of a bakery at 7321 Manchester avenue, Maplewood, was arrested today, following a complaint that bread sold by Kopples contained ground glass.

John Eshen, 23 years old, a native of Germany, employed by Kopples as a baker, also was arrested.

The complaint was made by Mrs. Catherine Flood of 6434 Dale avenue, who said she found glass in a loaf of bread that her son, Edwin, bought yesterday at the grocery of Charles Wasmund, 6413 Dale avenue. Wasmund said the bread came from Kopples' bakery.

A complaint from Mrs. Flood that bits of wire were found in candy brought by her son yesterday from Wasmund's store, also caused the arrest of John Mauer of 4551 Kennerly avenue, the salesman from whom Mauer said the candy was made by the Switzer Candy Co., 610 North Main street, and that he got it from the Missouri Candy Co., Main street and Washington avenue.

TWO FLYERS WERE KILLED IN AERIAL WELCOME TO GENERAL

PORT WORTH, Tex., May 3 (By A. P.).—Lieut. James H. Ennis Jr. of New York and Cadet Paul Herriott of Oakland, Cal., who were killed yesterday at Hicks field, when their airplane fell from a height of about 150 feet, had just taken the air to fulfill their part of a program calling for "stunts" in honor of Gen. John H. Greble and his staff from Camp Bowie. Gen. Greble was not on the field at the time of the accident.

The accident did not prevent the day's program from being carried out and Gen. Greble witnessed many thrilling "stunts" practiced in aviation.

A message from the President appointing Gen. Greble to the position of commander of the American Expeditionary Forces in France, was received today.

CONGRESS TO GIVE PRESIDENT MEN WITHOUT LIMIT

Will Open the Way for Steady Stream of Troops Overseas to Full Extent of Shipping Capacity.

3,200,000 OR MORE AND $15,000,000,000

Most of These Soldiers in France This Time Next Year; Raising Draft Age to 40 Considered.

BY HERBERT BAYARD SPOE, A Staff Correspondent of the Post.

WASHINGTON, May 3.—America has prepared to go on a "win-the-war" basis on a far greater scale than ever contemplated. Secretary Baker urged Congress—and Congress will comply—to open the sluice gates to permit a steady increasing stream of men to flow to France—a stream that is not to be checked by arbitrary number but continue in ever-widening volume until Germany has been beaten.

"It is no longer a question of how many; it is a question of enough," said the Secretary to the correspondents of the Post-Dispatch after his appearance before the Military Affairs Committee of the House.

"We shall place no limit upon our man power. Every man necessary to accomplish the purpose we have in hand is to be used. We are asking for a law that will enable us to keep the flow constant and the organization fluid. Our sole objective is to send men enough to win, and it is useless to attempt to approximate that outcome in numbers. It will be achieved if it takes 1,000,000 or 2,000,000."

Secretary Baker's statement expressed the sentiment of the Military Affairs Committee, the members of which heard him, together with Prof. Crowder, Secretary of the War, and Chief of Staff March.

The effort to have State quotas under the new draft affected by volunteer strength probably will be abandoned. The plan embodied in an amendment that has been offered to the department's draft bill now under consideration.

Maximum Not Fixed.

As it is necessary for technical purposes of appropriation to establish a basis of computation, it is probable that the new bill will call for a complete doubling of the present size of the army. The number is to be lifted from 1,600,000 to 3,200,000, but it is not to be fixed and that, if, within the fiscal year, it proves practical to increase the figure of 1,600,000, it will be done at once and a deficiency appropriation asked.

To handle the new increment, the Military Affairs Committee will request the appropriation of $15,000,000,000. This is just twice the amount appropriated last year and just twice the amount contemplated in the tentative bill now pending preceding Secretary Baker's recent trip to the front.

That the number of 3,200,000 is not doubled and the appropriation made proportionate to the increase due to transportation facilities. Were there sufficient bottoms to transport 5,000,000 men that would be the figure selected. The shipping situation, while showing radical improvement, is so far from yielding facilities more than enough to transport the additional strength planned.

To transport that will require a monthly flow considerably in excess of 100,000 men. While it is reasonable to assume that the increasing number of craft would allow for a greater number of troops to be moved, it must be remembered that food and other supplies, the flow of which has been curtailed recently, will be shipped to our war associates.

Strength a Year From Now.

Under the provisions of the projected law, America, 24 months from the date of its entrance into the war, will have an army of 3,200,000 men, including replacement units, by far the greater part of which will be in France by this time next year. They will go there by skeleton rigging, taking with them only such supplies as are immediately necessary, and at the outset depending upon France and Great Britain for subsistence and military equipment. This condition will be due, not to a lack of either on our part, but largely to a desire to employ every available bit of tonnage for the movement of man power, since supplies have been shipped to our war associates.

The plan has the backing of the Supreme War Council in France and the individual approval of the British and French missions in this country. The members of which have had brought home to them in striking fashion the depth and sincerity of America's purpose.

The "blue sky" limit to the army in the future will be set by the date of the next draft. The Post-Dispatch correspondent is informed that Secretary Daniels is to ask that his department be given the same privilege and that he shall have the right to recruit as many men as are needed.

The bills will be framed in such a way as to place the number of men to be drafted in the hands of the President, who shall have the right, in his discretion, to call as many as his army aids require.

Secretary Baker brought in direction a message from the President appointing Gen. Greble to the position of commander of the American Expeditionary Forces in France, was received today.

Distinguished Service Cross Awarded to American Lieutenant WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Thursday, May 3. (By A. P.)

LIEUT. WILLIAM D. MEYER, U. S. R., has been awarded the distinguished service cross. He commanded a platoon which was attacked by the enemy April 6. He took measures to defeat the enemy and handled his men well under fire until he was wounded seriously.

Compelled to attend to the wound, the Lieutenant refused assistance and walked through a barrage to a dressing station. He objected to being moved to the rear until he knew the result of the engagement.

In the official announcement it is declared his brave example inspired the men to drive off the enemy, who did not reach the American trenches. Lieut. Meyer's right hand had to be amputated as a result of the wound he received.

proving the stand taken by the War Department in favor of taking men from communities according to the number registered in class 1.

The department also asked that the registration conference be agreed upon at an early date so plans may be made for the first annual registrations of men 21 years old, who will number more than 750,000 every year. The War Department wants to call these men jointly with the men already in class 1. Members of the House voted an amendment setting the new registrants at the foot of class 1.

Men 26 Best Soldiers.

While Gen. March was before the committee, Secretary Baker asked his opinion as to which men make the best soldiers, those 26 or those 21 years old.

"Twenty-six years," the acting chief of staff replied.

Secretary Baker admitted he was greatly surprised. Gen. March subsequently stated that the reason he replied that way was that he wanted those 26 years old and those 21 years old, although he adhered to the view that the older man is the better type.

In presenting the requests for unlimited man power and amendments to pending bills, Secretary Baker and Gen. Crowder outlined the administration's plan for a great army of the nation, rather than one of the states. Secretary Baker said it would be unfair to some states and communities to give credits for volunteers as proposed by the House. General states, he declared, had few volunteers, the others had, therefore, would be required to furnish greater proportions of men in the draft than those states with large numbers of volunteers. This, it was declared, would make it necessary to carry over the surplus of men from one year to the next.

Estimates placed from 2,500,000 to 3,000,000 men in class 1. Fully half of these will be called in the next few months.

Members of the committee questioned the wisdom of giving such blanket authority to raise an army as requested by Secretary Baker. It is practically certain, however, that the department's wishes will be followed fully. Although, as stated by Secretary Baker, no specific recommendations for a change in age limit were submitted, members of the committee are not inclined to show that plans have been considered by the War Department for raising the draft age to 40 years inclusive.

Gen. Crowder estimated that a registration of men 30 to 40 would result in the total of about 8,000,000 available, over and above the 10,000,000 registered under the present law. This would give America a footing of 18,000,000 men.

ASKS COURT TO END 'PIRATING' OF NEWS BY 'I. N. S.'

F. W. Lehmann Presents Argument for A. P. in Proceeding to Make Temporary Injunction Permanent.

WOULD PRESERVE NEWS FROM TAINT

Attorney Contends for Integrity of Agency's Reports and Declares That Property Right Exists.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (By A. P.).—Making the argument in the Supreme Court today for the Associated Press in its suit to enjoin the International News Service from pirating its news dispatches, Frederick W. Lehmann of St. Louis contended that the property right in news and asked the Court to make permanent the injunctions granted by lower Federal courts to end the practice, which he characterized as "piratical and unlawful."

"News, as disseminated by the many journals of the country," Lehmann argued, "is powerful to shape public conduct. If its influence is to be on the side of good, rather than upon the side of evil, the news must be in clean hands and conducted by honest methods. If it comes to the public from tainted sources and by tainted means, the news itself will not escape contamination."

Lehmann presented arguments at length, and referred to decisions to uphold the contention that publication of news does not relinquish the property right in it.

"News is unlike any material commodity," said he. "In the field of general news, whether it is gathered and disseminated by a co-operative association of newspapers or by an agency conducted by a single newspaper, it is obvious that the property which is permitted simply to appropriate the news without payment of any kind would have a great advantage over its competitor who had paid for it or had shared in the labor and pains of getting it."

In the case of newspapers published in the West, the conditions would be worse. Because electricity outruns the apparent movement of the sun, we can clip the news appearing in the New York morning papers and send it to any paper in the Mississippi Valley, or west of there, in ample time for publication in the regular, and even in the first editions.

"Any person doing this would have a great advantage over the Associated Press. What the Associated Press got through the diligence and daring of its correspondents at more than one front and the additional cost of transmission by cable across the Atlantic, this man would get sitting securely at a safe desk in New York by the mere use of a pair of scissors."

May the product of the news-gathering activities of the Associated Press, intended so far as concerns current publication in the daily papers, exclusively for its own members, be appropriated in the manner suggested, by the International News Service and sold by it to the public, would be a serious injury to the Associated Press.

"That is the question presented by the case," Lehmann contended, "and it is the duty of the court to give effect to the International News Service's right in the affirmative."

Report, and Not Facts, Is News.

"News, they say, is an account of facts and events, and in facts and events no one can have any exclusive right. This is conceded. But the facts and events themselves are news. The report of them is news. Before, the fact can be reported it must be ascertained. Somebody must be where he can get knowledge of it, and he must be a person of intelligence and experience. It is essential to determine what has happened is of interest and importance enough to constitute news, and he must provide for prompt transmission of the news to the public. The fact that he has gotten to the place where it will be put in course of distribution for publication as part of the day's news."

"The Associated Press does not create the facts or produce the events of which it endeavors to give first information to its members, but it does create, it does produce, the news budget which gives such information. And to create, to produce, this news budget requires human effort of every kind from the hardest toil to the highest intelligence, attended sometimes by the gravest perils. It requires also the expenditure of money to second and sustain the human effort. The elements of labor, skill and capital thus essential to the production of a news report are themselves elements of value and are property, entitled to protection as such. Why is not that true of the product itself? It is throughout the civilized world the subject of barter and sale. And because a news report, as a news report, has value and pecuniary value the International News Service takes that of the Associated Press and sells it to its own clients for dollars and cents in hand paid."

"They say that a mere budget of news is not literature, and so is not the subject of copyright, and even if it were, we have not complied with the copyright law, so are not entitled to the protection afforded. Fundamental principles of

FIRST ST. LOUIS DRAFTED MAN TO DIE IN FRANCE

JOHN L. HAMMETT MAKES 'THE SUPREME SACRIFICE'

News of the death in France of John L. Hammett, 28 years old, of 402 Blaine avenue, who was drafted last September from the First Ward and sent to Camp Funston, has been received by his mother, Mrs. Catherine Hammett. He is the first St. Louis drafted man to die in France.

The news came in an official letter from an army officer at an Atlantic port, who said the personal effects of the soldier had arrived in this country and would be forwarded to his mother. The letter said he had made "the supreme sacrifice for his country."

The last word the family had from Hammett was a post card dated March 25, telling of his arrival in France.

Orders 70,000 Freight Cars

WASHINGTON, May 3 (By A. P.).—Orders for 70,000 additional freight cars to supplement the 20,000 contracted for several days ago, have been placed by the Railroad Administration with 15 car building concerns. The aggregate cost is between $170,000,000 and $210,000,000, and the average profit to builders is about 5 per cent.

The orders distributed include Mount Vernon Car Manufacturing Co., Mount Vernon, Ill.; 4000; St. Louis Car Co., St. Louis, 1000.

ST. LOUISAN WOUNDED IN FRANCE

Private Louis G. Walters, 20 years old, of the Marine Corps, a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Walters of 2827 Cottage avenue, is the twelfth St. Louisan reported on the Marine Corps list of casualties in France.

A telegram from the Navy Department to his parents announces he has been slightly wounded. The death of one and the injury of 10 other St. Louis Marines in France were announced recently. Walters enlisted here last autumn.

Justice announced in copyright cases may have application here, but the formal law of copyrights has no place. Has not the complainant some right of property in the daily news report it produces, and a right which a court of equity will protect? Are not the practices of the petitioner complained of by the respondent and admitted by the petitioner to be against a competitor, and will not a court of equity join them?

Not Credited by I. N. S.

"There is here at one and the same time a taking of property of the Associated Press and unfair competition in business and unfair competition in the daily news report it produces, and a right which a court of equity will protect? Are not the practices of the petitioner complained of by the respondent and admitted by the petitioner to be against a competitor, and will not a court of equity join them?"

There is here at one and the same time a taking of property of the Associated Press and unfair competition in business and unfair competition in the daily news report it produces, and a right which a court of equity will protect? Are not the practices of the petitioner complained of by the respondent and admitted by the petitioner to be against a competitor, and will not a court of equity join them?"

What right of the International News Service is denied or impaired by the petitioner in taking our news and selling it to others? The source of all property right is labor. All commercial values are created by labor of some kind. The product of labor, forest or factory is the result of toil. The goods of a merchant's business are created by years of labor and pains. The right to values thus created may, of course, be acquired by purchase or exchange. They are produced that they may be sold or exchanged. Here is a news report, created by labor and held for sale and exchange. The International News Service did not create, and has not acquired it by purchase or exchange. Why, then, is it enjoining us from boldly taking it and selling it, what injustice does it suffer? It is simply prevented from reaping where it has not sown. No ethical argument is adduced or can be in support of the petitioner's claim. It is an endeavor to get something for nothing and has so impressed every court which has had occasion to deal with a like contention."

The opening argument was made yesterday by Samuel Undermyer, representing the Associated Press, in admitting that the International News Service had been guilty of the same practice.

The Associated Press also was attacked by Undermyer for bringing the present proceedings at a time when Great Britain and the allied Governments had denied the use of their cables to the International News Service for the transmission of news.

CLASS 1 MEN, IN BIG MEETING, INDORESE DRILLING PLAN

1500 Persons Crowd Mc-Kinley High School Auditorium as Men From Three Wards Organize.

TWO MEETING NIGHTS
A WEEK AGREED ON

Enthusiasm of Registrants
Prompt Prediction 18,000
Soon Will Be Getting First Military Schooling in City.

Anyone needing confirmation of the conviction that America's youth is heart and soul in the war should have been at the auditorium of the McKinley High School, Missouri apd Russell avenues, last night. Men of class 1 in the draft, from the Ninth, Tenth and Fifteenth Wards, filled the hall with their numbers and made it ring with their shouts of enthusiasm. They had gathered, under the sponsorship of the Military Training Camps Association, to organize volunteer drills preliminary to their summons to camp.

Probably 1500 persons were present. They were not only men of draft age, but their mothers, fathers, sisters and girl friends, all in a voluntarous state of fervor. The array of automobiles in front of the school and the groups of men, women and children hastening thither on foot from every direction, gave the occasion a gala aspect.

Here one could see the raw material of the ever-increasing National Army and the quality of that material could not but inspire pride and confidence. Far from the rebellion against the selective draft act which our enemies predicted, or even any sullen reluctance, there was a spirit leaping to meet military service as a precious opportunity. Eagerness and keenness shone from every face and thrilled in every voice.

Men Eager for Training.
To one who has seen the finished product at Camp Funston, the cantonment at which St. Louisans are trained, it was plain that both they and last night's novices are of one and the same breed. The untrained men were more boisterous than the others and did not sit and walk as creetly. But put them in khaki and give them a few weeks of training, and they would be the same broad-shouldered, sturdy and alert young men whose soldierly bearing delights
the eye at Camp Funston.

These youths are not content to wait for their training until they get to camp, but voted at the meeting to spend two nights a week in drilling until the call comes. One motive is their eagerness for military service. Another is the characteristic American ambition. Major General Leonard Wood, Commandant at Camp Funston, has informed them that men with preliminary training will be immediately in line for promotion as non-commissioned officers, an advancement which leads naturally to the training schools for commissioned officers.

A section of the Great Lakes Naval Training Station band played and then Claude L. Matthews, chairman of the St. Louis chapter of the Military Training Camps Association, explained the purpose of the gathering, asking the men if they would volunteer to drill two nights a week from 7 to 8:30 o'clock. The answer came back in a roaring chorus of "yes," cried one youth, and the shouts arose again.

Drill Nights Agreed On.
Then a viva voce ballot was taken as to the nights on which the wards would drill. The Ninth and Tenth voted to drill together Tuesday and Friday nights at Lempi Park; and the Fifteenth on Monday and Friday nights at Ruder playgrounds, California avenue and Rutger street.
R. A. Richardson, chairman of the Fifteenth Ward, told the men that Secretary Baker, according to the afternoon papers, was seeking authority to send all the men to France that the Government can equip, and declared that probably all the sections of Class 1 will be called.
"Eventually, why not now?"
shouted a drafted man, and the crowd loudly echoed the question.
Dr. Alexander Despenli, chairman of the Tenth Ward, praised "the splendid manner in which our young men have answered the call," and explained his ward to put all the others in the city to shame by the numbers in which they attend the volunteer drills. W. F. Brinkmann Jr., in charge of recruiting in the Ninth Ward, reported that every Class 1 man in the ward had agreed to join the drill.

After more music and more scenes of enthusiasm, the meeting was dismissed. Matthews told a Post-Dispatch reporter that from his experience in other wards, more men are likely to turn up at the drills than attend the preliminary meetings, for those present tell all their friends and take them along to the drill ground.

18,000 Men Expected to Drill.
There are about 30,000 class 1 men in St. Louis, said Matthews, and indications are that at least 18-000 of them will volunteer for the preliminary drills. We expect them to make their first appearance as a body in the Decoration day parade.

INCOME OF RAILROADS SHOWS BIG DECREASE

Net Income of 114 Lines in 3 Months Under Federal Control
$89,902,738 Less Than 1917.

WASHINGTON, May 3 (By A. P.).
—During the first three months of government regulation, 114 American railroads showed a net operating income of $54,108,661, against $144-011,329 for the same period under private direction in 1917.
For the three months' period ending with March, Interstate Commerce Commission statistics issued today show operating revenues were $726-011,329, against $688,173,857 in 1917; operating expenses, $637,754,696, against $512,775,269, and net revenue from railway operations $88,226,721 against $175,398,488. The operating income for March was $50,628,302, against $57,592,087, the same month
last year.

The earnings report indicates roughly that the Government lost more than $100,000,000 in operation of the railroads during January, February and March, although railroad administration officials looked for such a record as a result of bad weather and traffic losses in January. They believe the loss will be made up in later months.
March earnings, although far below normal, are almost twice as much as in February, and are much better than in January when a deficient in railway operating income was reported.

For the first time, the Interstate Commerce Commission reported the item of "net operating income" which is the basis for Government compensation. This, for the 114 roads reporting, amounted to $46,898,000, which is the operating income, less expenditures for equipment, rents and joint facility rents. For the same roads in the corresponding period of last year, this item was $134,000,000.

The commission report for March is incomplete, since returns are expected from 82 additional roads.

State Liquor Traffic Favored.
LONDON, May 3 (By A. P.).—
The English, Scotch and Irish committees appointed to investigate the purchase and control by the state of the liquor traffic have reported in favor of the feasibility of the scheme.
The cost is estimated at more than $2,000,000,000.

Rummage Sale Room at Times Has Aspect of a Popular Nursery

Mrs. R. A. Holland, Sale Director, General
Choice of Mothers to Look After Their Children While They Hunt Bargains.

Members of the Junior League and their friends, who are serving as saleswomen at the Junior League rummage sale, Tenth street and Franklin avenue, have gained much amusement from their first experience on the selling side of a counter.

The sale opens daily at 9 a. m. and closes at 5, but the service of the young women is not restricted to those hours. They are compelled to begin work as much as an hour earlier to arrange their counters and they frequently remain two hours after closing to straighten out the goods.

Most of them wear a sort of uniform consisting of a four-cornered paper hat as adorns the brow of Labor in pictorial personifications.
White gloves and white aprons are proof of their uncertain source.

Mrs. Robert A. Holland, 4346
Westminster place, sits at a cash register at the entrance taking toll of 10 cents from all who enter. Between punches at the keys she makes effort to attend to her duties as general director of the sale. Also, she is selected by all mothers with children, who wish to rush the bargains unimpeded, as head of a nursery.
"Watch my girl," the mother commands, and Mrs. Holland meekly obeys. The nursery at times becomes quite populous and vociferous.

Bric-a-brac in Demand.
Bric-a-brac, which seems a magnet for those who can least afford it, is the first glory of the sale revealed.
Mrs. Clarence Gamble, 5391 Berlin avenue, and Miss Mildred Orthwein, 15 Portland place, have the first counter.

Miss Mary D. Jones, 45 Portland place, reigning Velled Prophet Queen, and Mrs. Lockwood Hill, 5142
Waterman avenue, were at the second counter, where are the two most-longed-for pieces of the collection.
One is a towering piece of ware, ornamented like a Dutch parlor, that Mrs. Hill styles "the Austrian atrocity." It was made by an Austrian factory that since has been destroyed. It is priced at $15 and has caused many sighs. The other piece is Dresden ware and is marked $35.

One little girl who led her mother to the shrine was awed at the price.
"It ought to be gold for that," she said.

Miss Edith Cates, 4250 Washington avenue; Mrs. H. W. Simpkins, 5082
Waterman avenue; Mrs. James Wear, 412 North Union boulevard, and Mrs.
Guy Oliver, 21 Dartford avenue, are the furniture saleswomen.

Miss Vesta Brown, 6 Beverly place, stands behind an array of hammered ware and the price is not within the reach of all admirers. "I can get a bigger one than that at a department store for 30 cents," some customers have said.

One of the busiest sections is that where household goods are displayed and the particular rush seems to center around lace curtains. Miss Florence Hayes, 4389 Lindell boulevard; Mrs. Malcolm Thomas, 501 Clara avenue, and Mrs. Joseph Pullitzer Jr. are some of the sales-women.

Velled Prophet queen and the Junior League member upon whom fell the task of collecting the thousands of articles, is at the picture counter.
With her are Miss Grace Taylor, 4907 Berlin avenue, and Miss Margaret Gale, 4301 West Pine boulevard. "They want holy pictures or pictures of fruit for their dining room," she declared.

Wanted Picture of Francis.
Miss Gale told a woman whose inquiry for a holy picture was interrupted by an insistent man who wanted a picture of D. R. Francis, Ambassador to Russia.

Mrs. Allan J. Goodbar, 2953 Westminster place, said she had proved immune to haggles on price until a little woman beseeched her to cut 10 cents off the price of a pair of silk stockings. "I did," she said.
Mrs. Goodbar said indignantly, "and when she took out her purse I peaked. There were about $50 in bills in it."

Saleswoman's Bonnet Sold.
Miss Elizabeth Kennard, 4609 Berlin avenue, one of the season's debut-antes; Miss Lucille Capen, 501 Clara avenue, and Miss Elizabeth Edgar, 4905 Lindell boulevard, have charge of books and toys. Miss Edgar came over from the hat counter, where one of the saleswomen had sold her bonnet which she left on the counter.
The purchaser escaped with it.

The clothing department, where evening dresses and afternoon gowns and negligees and men's clothing are on sale, requires many saleswomen.
Miss Frances Reid Jones, 45 Portland place, is in charge. Some of her helpers are: Mrs. Edward Cates, 45
Westminster place; Miss Elizabeth
Hodgman, 5379 Waterman avenue;
Mrs. Claude L. Matthews, 4660 Berlin avenue; Miss Edith Whittemore, 20 Hortense place; Mrs. Sears Lehman, 239 Westgate avenue, treasurer of the league; Miss Georgia Elliott, 11
Kingsbury place; Mrs. Walter Fichel, 5023 Westminster place; Miss Mary Randolph Gordon, 1 Lenox place; Miss Frances Filley, 46 Westmoreland place, and Mrs. Oliver Richards, 4612 Maryland avenue.

Miss Julia Coolidge of Boston, a guest of Mrs. Charles Nagel, 44
Westmoreland place, and Mrs. Leone Gale of Kirkwood, are engaged in pointing out the glories of hats.
Near that counter Mrs. Breckinridge
Jones Jr. runs a cash register.

Miss Annie Laurie Warrack, 4950
Lindell boulevard, is at the notion counter. Miss Roberta Lewis, 53 Westmoreland place, qualified as a speedy manipulator of a cash register and is at the busiest spot near the dresses.

MOVE TO ANNEX PART OF COUNTY IS REVIVED

Chamber of Commerce to Name Committee to Draft Necessary Legislation.

A movement to annex communities in St. Louis County to the city of St.
Louis, which was under consideration several years ago, was revived by the Chamber of Commerce yesterday when its Board of Directors authorized the president, Jackson Johnson, to appoint a special committee to consider the problem and formulate legislation necessary to legalize the scheme and present it to the 1918 Legislature.

Unless St. Louis follows the example of other American cities and includes within its limits territory which justly belongs to it, it may have a lot of explaining to do when the 1920 census is made public, Johnson said.

"Baltimore, Cleveland and Detroit and many other cities have made territorial additions," he continued.
"For instance, the latter city between 1910 and 1916 increased its limits from 40 to 72 square miles.
St. Louis has changed its corporate limits since 1875, and officially we only cover 62 square miles, which is a very small area compared to other great American cities."

"We have been at some disadvantages right along because the population figures have not been truly representative of the great centralization of people here. There are many other reasons than population figures why these annexation figures should be encouraged. There are many benefits to both the cities and communities annexed."

The city of St. Louis and St. Louis County communities could be consolidated only upon the consent of the majority of the voters of each subdivision. It has been pointed out that among the benefits that would accrue to the city and county from annexation are: To St. Louis, the acquisition of nearly 100,000 additional population, insuring retention of fourth rank among American cities; the acquisition of 269,120 acres of territory and increased revenue from taxes.
To the county, St. Louis supervision over public schools, roads, streets and laying out of subdivisions; water at St. Louis rate, privilege of sending children to public school without tuition; and probable reduction in electric light, gas and telephone rates.

"UNLESS WE HURRY WE MAY BE TOO LATE," SAYS ROOSEVELT

Declares in Speech That No Man Is Good Citizen Unless He Is Helping in the War.

BOSTON, May 3 (By A. P.).—No man is a good citizen at this time unless, in some way, he is helping in the war, declared Col. Theodore Roosevelt during a Liberty Loan address here last night. The former President hailed "men like Senator Chandler and Gen. W. W. Wood" as "true patriots at this time," because they "have fearlessly told the truth
—the truth which every German official knew, but of which our own people had been kept in ignorance."
During the last few weeks—since the great battle actually began —our Government has partially waked," said Col. Roosevelt. "There has been a real effort to put competent men at work in at least some of the more important departments or bureaus, a real effort to hurry up the shipbuilding, a real effort to hasten the shipment of troops abroad."

"I say solemnly unless we hurry
the preparation we may be too late," continued the speaker. He condemned as "absurdly inadequate" and as "child's play" the announcement from Washington of the impending calling of 150,000 more men by draft.

"Make it a million and a half now and announce that we intend to put five million troops in the field," he urged.

40 HOUSES BURN IN HOUR AT THREE RIVERS, QUEBEC

THREE RIVERS, Que., May 3 (By A. P.).—Fire which broke out in the business section here today quickly destroyed a number of stores and residences and got beyond control of the local fire fighting force. Help was asked for from Quebec and Montreal. By 11 a. m., an hour after the fire broke out, the main business thoroughfare, had been destroyed.
The flames spread to the nearby streets and the families were compelled to leave their houses by the heat.

Three Rivers, an industrial and manufacturing city of about 10,000 population and a port of entry, is 75 miles southwest of the city of Quebec.

tantes, has shoes. She says that the eternal question is "What size? Inasmuch as I don't know a thing about sizes, I have trouble," she said. "One woman asked: 'Do you think these would fit Willie?' and Willie was nowhere in sight."

Miss Julia Tyler, 4522 Westminster place, is at the counter where there is a pile of dusty bathroom slippers.
Her receipts have not been large.

"The negro women all stop when they get the glitter of silver and gold," Miss Tyler said, "but they take just one look and exclaim 'My land, what little feet!'" Miss Tyler's table is near the exit and she comes under constant fires of complaints of those who say their time is up when Mrs. Conant starts swinging her bell.

Keeping the sale open on Monday was discussed today because of the inability of larger crowds to get into the sale rooms. There is a constant line outside. The first two days' sales were $2450.

MISS HILDA JAMIESON TO DRIVE AMBULANCE

St. Louis Young Woman Selected for Service in War Zone After Work in Auto Shop.

Miss Hilda Jamieson, daughter of
Mr. and Mrs. James Jamieson, 35
Vandeventer place, has been notified that she has been accepted for service as an ambulance driver in the war zone by the Medical Women's National Association of New York.
That association operates hospitals in France and Serbia.

Miss Jamieson, who is about 22 years old, believes that she will be sent to France. She recently returned from Philadelphia, where she spent three months at work in the repair shop of an automobile company. She wore overalls.

Miss Nora Jamieson, another daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jamieson, is operating a farm near St. Albans, Mo. Mrs. Jamieson is active in British-American war relief.

Miss Hilda Jamieson first took up farming as a war work, on Long-Island. There she learned tinkering with machinery and her experience suggested that she go in for war work with an automobile.
She applied for employment in a Philadelphia automobile shop. The superintendent refused her until she convinced him that she was willing to shoulder a man's work, with no allowance for her sex. She gained a certificate of efficiency from her employers.

Miss Jamieson has not been notified as to the date of her departure.

CHARLES NAGEL TO DEVOTE ENTIRE TIME TO U. S. WORK

St. Louis Attorney, Former Commerce Secretary Under Taft, Goes to Washington for Service.

Charles Nagel, trustee of the estate of Adolphus Busch and attorney for the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Association, departed for Washington last night, accompanied by his wife, after resigning as a member of the Board of Directors of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

On submitting his resignation yesterday afternoon he told the other board members he had been asked to do Government work in Washington which would take all of his time for the remainder of the year.
His resignation was accepted.

Nagel did not tell the board the exact nature of the Government service he had been asked to render.
Daniel N. Kirby, his law partner, today said he did not know the exact purpose of Nagel going to Washington and any information on that point must come from Government sources.

Nagel was Secretary of Commerce and Labor in President Taft's Cabinet and was active in settling nearby fishery controversies between the United States, England and Russia.

GROGER ARRESTED WHEN FOUND USING FLAT AS STORAGE HOUSE

Police Find 5 Sacks of Sugar, 3 of Beans and 25 Pairs of Shoes

Wendell Beans, 29 years old, a grocer at Garrison avenue and Market street, was arrested last night when detectives found that he was using a flat at 209 South Harrison avenue as a storage house. He resides at 2517 Market street.

Acting on information that groceries were being stored in the flat, detectives went there and found five sacks of sugar, three sacks of beans and 25 pairs of shoes. They arrested Beans after he drove to the flat in an automobile containing three sacks of sugar and a case of canned cream.

The detectives reported that Beans ran away from the flat when they formed him that he was under arrest and that they pursued him to his grocery. The automobile and groceries were confiscated.

NATIONAL WAR LABOR BOARD POLICY INDORSED BY C. OF C.

A resolution indorsing the principles set forth in the policy of the National War Labor Board was adopted by the Board of Directors of the Chamber of Commerce at a meeting yesterday afternoon. The text of the resolution follows:

"Resolved, That the Chamber of Commerce thoroughly indorses the principles set forth for the guidance of all parties in the relations between employers and employees, for the duration of the war, as promulgated by the National War Labor Board.

"That the Chamber of Commerce especially calls attention to the most important part of this program, in its opinion, to the effect that there shall be no strikes or lockouts;

"That the Chamber of Commerce,
in the interest of the successful prosecution of the war, calls upon employers and employees alike to observe these regulations."

BELL TELLS OF HIS DAUGHTER'S DOMESTIC TROUBLE

HAVE BEEN LIVING APART SINCE FEB. 1

Says Wife Locked Him Out of Apartment After He Took Son to See His Mother.

Two entirely different causes for the separation Feb. 1 of Richard E. Hinrichs, a stock and bond broker in the Boatmen's Bank Building, and his wife, who was Miss Marjorie Bell, an heiress, are given by the parties to the controversy. Hinrichs says his wife locked him out of their apartment at 787 Westgate avenue because he took their year-old son to see his mother.

Nicholas M. Bell, of 4442 West Pine boulevard, her father, said the trouble was due to financial affairs, and asserted that Hinrichs left his wife and child when there remained only $20 of $35,000, which she had possessed during the 2 1/2 years of their married life.

Hinrichs denied this vigorously. He is living at the Missouri Athletic Association, and Mrs. Hinrichs and their son are living at the Bell residence, she having moved from her apartment Wednesday night. Each has employed attorneys.

Bell gave his daughter's version of the separation to a Post-Dispatch reporter as he sat on the porch of his home last evening and smoked a cigar. He is 75 years old, and is reputed to be a millionaire. Mrs. Hinrichs is his only daughter. He started off with a "hypothetical" case.

"Suppose you came and made love

Heiress Who Married at 18 and Is Separated From Husband

to a 17-year-old girl, whose mother was dead," he said. "Suppose she had a good deal of money and you didn't have a cent, and you married her just as she turned 18 years old.

"Suppose she furnished you an apartment; set you up in the brokerage business; bought you a seat on the Stock Exchange for $2000 and gave you a bank account. Say, for instance, that this girl had $10,000 which her mother had given her, and that she inherited $25,000 from an uncle.

"My wife gave my daughter $10,000, and she inherited $25,000 from the estate of her uncle, Fred Pepper, soon after her marriage.

"Suppose that this girl gave you securities to deposit so you could establish credit at the banks. Suppose, then, that her father bought you a nice automobile to ride back and forth between your office and your home.

"Had Dates With Boys." "Well, it isn't any supposing—at all. That's just what happened. And that isn't all. When Marjorie had to go to St. Luke's Hospital to have an operation for appendicitis last December he called on her once a day. When she begged him to come back and see her at night he said he had dates with the boys at the club.

Told Story to Pastor. "At last, when he had left her and she was destitute, she was afraid and ashamed to tell me about it, and she went for advice to the minister of a certain church. He was so disturbed that he laid it before the vestrymen, and they decided to tell me about it.

"I had done everything I could to help them along. When they got married I said to her: 'Baby, don't buy any hard sugar, butter or potatoes; come over to daddy's house and get them,' and she did. I used to take her down to the market in my machine every Saturday and buy her all the groceries we could haul. I didn't mind doing that. I own 41 houses in this town, and if you had all the Liberty Bonds that I have—over $100,000—you would be comfortable for life. It's the way he treated her that makes me mad.

"I don't know what we are going to do about it. I know what would happen if I was 10 years younger; I would spend 50 cents for a good cowhide."

Hinrichs denied that his wife paid for his seat on the Stock Exchange or that his father-in-law bought him an automobile. The machine is in his wife's possession, he said, although he paid for it. He said all Bell's statements regarding financial affairs were untrue and that he didn't go to the hospital at night because a nurse wouldn't let him.

"Our troubles were domestic," he said. "She refused to let me take my baby to see my mother, three blocks away, and I took him anyhow. The next five nights when I came home to dinner I was locked out. Then I left."

The wedding, in June, 1915, at St. Peter's Episcopal Church, was opposed by Bell, who wanted his daughter to finish her education at Mary Institute. Her mother was a graduate of that school, and expressed the wish, before her death, that her daughter take the same course.

Mrs. Hinrichs is heir to a fortune estimated at $200,000 from the estate of her grandfather, Christian Pepper, tobacco manufacturer. However, it is being held in trust for her until she is 25 years old. She is 21 now. Hinrichs is 26. He says he is contemplating entering military service.

Liberty Loan Notes

Secretary-Manager E. A. Daley of the Belleville Board of Trade, who is also sales manager for Belleville of the Third Liberty Loan, received word yesterday that Belleville is to receive an honor flag for selling 7 1/2 per cent of the population bonds. Belleville's quota was $750,000, and the amount sold up to last night was $1,040,000. Salesmen who made an excellent showing in Belleville will receive bronze medals shaped like a diamond and bearing the likeness of the Statue of Liberty. The medal is attached to a small flag.

Landon Lodge, 9-year-old son of H. F. Lodge of 302 North Newstead avenue, and a pupil in the Eugene Field School, last night made a neat little speech to guests in the parlor of the Bonair Hotel, Taylor and Berlin avenues, and sold two more Liberty Bonds. So far the youngster has sold $1900 of the Third Liberty Loan Bonds. He spoke at noon today at the Mercantile Club and will carry on his salesmanship until the end of the bond drive.

Employees of the Washab outboard freight office, Third street and Franklin avenue, have subscribed for $5000. Eight nationalities are represented among the 102 employees, and each man has subscribed for one or more bonds.

President Wilson's request that individuals and families "buy another bond," will be presented in residence districts tonight by uniformed members of the Home Guard and by insurance salesmen, United Railways employees and others who have volunteered for the task.

In the bond and insurance salesmen's canvass the team headed by L. M. Steinberg has taken first place. It has obtained subscriptions amounting to $1,201,550 from 4158 persons and firms.

With $79,600 added to the total subscriptions for the third Liberty Loan in St. Charles County yesterday, that sum now is $891,050, or $426,050 above a quota of $465,000. School District No. 2 at West Alton went over the top when every family in the district subscribed to one or more bonds for a total of $8000.

Boy Scouts have sold $2,336,800 Liberty Bonds. Their sales yesterday were $413,650. E. Russell Field, treasurer for the six Christian Science churches, reported yesterday that the congregations had subscribed through the Boy Scouts for $250,000, divided as follows: First Church, $61,450; Second, $44,800; Third, $19,050; Fourth, $145,800; Fifth, $6800; Sixth, $14,050.

The "Buy Another Bond" movement was carried into the grain pit of the Merchants' Exchange yesterday, and more than $100,000 additional subscriptions were made in a short time from firms and individuals.

A campaign among deaf mutes has been conducted by the Rev. Charles Schubkegel of 4536 Labadie avenue.

He is proficient in the sign language and he has reported that he met a deaf and dumb in the Southwest, where he has been traveling.

The Catholic Women's League has reached a total of $1,518,750. Tomorrow's final drive will be in charge of Miss C. de R. Mattingly.

YOUTH BUYS BOND AND QUILTS JOB AFTER DEMONSTRATION

Employees of Core Room at Carondelet Foundry Were Trying for 100 Per Cent Record.

Twenty-five employees of the core room at the Carondelet Foundry Co., 2101 South King's highway, seeking a 100-per-cent record in the Third Liberty Loan campaign, caused a demonstration in the plant last Tuesday, when one of their number refused to buy a bond. The demonstration resulted in the employee buying a $50 bond, after which he quit his job.

H. R. Culling, general manager of the foundry, today said the employee was Edward Swarthout, 17 years old, of 4918 Odell avenue. He said Swarthout protested against the efforts to sell him a bond on the ground that he already had bought one.

Pupils of Alma Drelfus will give a novelty minstrel, "Mrs. Mulligan's Tea Party," tonight at 8 o'clock in Strassberger Hall, Grand and Shennandoah avenues. The proceeds will be given to the St. Louis Red Cross.

GLENDY B. ARNOLD ELECTION CHAIRMAN

Former Circuit Judge Succeeds Wilfley, Now U. S. Senator, as Commissioner.

Glendy B. Arnold, former Circuit Judge, was appointed today by Gov. Gardner as chairman of the St. Louis Board of Election Commissioners, to succeed Xenophon P. Wilfley, now United States Senator. Arnold's acceptance was announced with the appointment, according to a Jefferson City dispatch.

Former Judge Daniel G. Taylor, to whom the position was first offered, declined it. He informed the Governor that, if he were to accept, he would have to withdraw from the chairmanship of the Twenty-fifth Ward draft board, and he wished to continue this form of service.

The position of chairman of the Election Board pays $1000 a year, and Arnold's appointment continues until January, 1921, the term for which Wilfley was appointed.

Arnold is 48 years old, and has practiced law in St. Louis since 1901. He is a native of Kentucky, and was married in 1907 to Miss Cora Connell, sister of William C. Connell, who was the Democratic nominee for Mayor last year. He lives at 5906 Clemens avenue.

DANDRUFF SOON RUINS THE HAIR

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only way to get rid of dandruff is to destroy it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel hundreds times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have.—This simple remedy will save you a lot of money. ADV

WE assume responsibility for your satisfaction here; if you say you are not satisfied we give back the money. You test the goods by wear; you prove the quality, you know what you get. Money cheerfully refunded.

AMERICAN COLONEL KILLED BY ENEMY SHELL IN PICARDY

Lieut.-Col. Richard H. Griffiths Meets Death When Missile Explodes as He Emerges From Dugout.

HAD SERVED WITH THE BRITISH ARMY

Spanish - American Veteran
Was With Scots at Dardanelles and Saloniki; His Widow Red Cross Nurse.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, Thursday, May 2 (By A. P.).—Lieutenant-Colonel Richard H. Griffiths, commanding a battalion of infantry, has been killed by shell fire in Picardy. He emerged from a dugout just as a German shell arrived and exploded directly in front of him.

Lieutenant-Colonel Griffiths was with the Fourth Tennessee Volunteers in the Spanish-American War and later with the Thirty-seventh Volunteers. He served also as a Major in the Philippine constabulary. He was appointed a Major in the National Army after resigning from the British army. His widow is a Red Cross nurse.

At the outbreak of the great war Lieutenant-Colonel Griffiths joined the Fifth Royal Scots, serving at the Dardanelles, Saloniki and in France until severely wounded in 1917, when he lost part of a shoulder blade.

Last fall he obtained his release from the British forces to join the American army as a Major. Because of his cool, calm efficiency during the trying days of January and February, while his men occupied positions northwest of Toul, he was given a lieutenant-colonelcy. His men loved him and the correspondent heard a group say the day he was killed:

"There's the old man, and, believe me, if you are looking for a soldier and a gentleman, there he is. Every man in this outfit would go straight through hell if Griffiths gave the order to march."

And many of his men did just that during the few days before he was killed.

When his command was going into the line, Lieutenant-Colonel Griffiths sat astride his horse at a cross-roads over which the German shrapnel was bursting heavily. He spoke to his men sharply, but in a low voice, telling them not to forget who the enemy was, what he had done and to punish him. He had been a constant visitor in the trenches and shell holes held by his troops, taking long chances to get to all of them, making sure that they were getting everything wanted and were well cared for.

The shell that killed Lieutenant-Colonel Griffiths also killed a Corporal and wounded other men. The Corporal fell across his superior's body. They were buried in soldiers' graves, where the shells scream constantly and the nights are lightened by the flash of guns.

WITHERS DOES NOT THINK BOY GUILTY OF DISLOYAL SENTIMENT

Superintendent of Schools Investigates Report of Utterances of Boy at McKinley High.

Following an investigation yesterday of a report that a student at McKinley High School had made disloyal utterances in class room, Superintendent of Schools Withers announced that he was satisfied the boy was not guilty of improper conduct or sentiments.

In a discussion of current topics in history class last Monday, the student raised the question as to whether Holland's shipment of food to Germany was more unneutral than the allies' seizure of Dutch shipping. Supt. Withers said he was satisfied the question was raised purely in a spirit of discussion, and that the teacher made a mistake in publicly reprimanding the student.

The student's parents have bought Liberty Bonds, supported the Red Cross and the Y. M. C. A., and the boy himself recently tried to join the marines, but was rejected because of his youth, Supt. Withers said. The boy wrote a statement to Principal Miller reaffirming his loyalty, and protesting that the teacher had put him in the wrong light before the class.

ANNA HELD HAS RARE DISEASE

Physician Says She Is Suffering From Multiple Myeloma.

NEW YORK, May 3 (Special).—Anna Held, who has been seriously ill several weeks, is suffering from a rare disease.

"Miss Held is resting with a fair degree of comfort," her physician says. The X-ray examination has revealed a spongy condition of the bone marrow and the bone cells. It is a very rare affliction, there being on record only 50 cases. It is known as multiple myeloma. Another conference will be held to determine whether a blood transfusion will have to be resorted to or not."

TELLS OF STANDING GUARD AT BIRTHPLACE OF THE SAVIOR

Youthful British Soldier Writes of Honor He Feels in Duty Being Performed at Bethlehem.

LONDON, April 17 (By A. P.).—From Bethlehem a youthful British soldier writes to a friend here: "I am on guard at present and it is an honor, I can tell you, that I am guarding the birthplace and manger of our Lord. It is a wonderful place and I never thought when I used to read about it that one day I should stand and guard it. The birthplace is marked by a 14-pointed silver star presented by the French Government. The stable is hung with lamps from all different countries and they look beautiful; and I might add, they are always alight. The manger itself is cut in natural rock, but marble has been put in to keep it in a good state of preservation."

Capt. Cameron Tells of Fate of the Kirby—How Plans for Eating Christmas Dinner in Trinidad Were Spoiled.

THE Post-Dispatch herewith presents the sixth installment of Capt. Cameron's fascinating story of his five months as a prisoner on the German raider Wolf while she searched the high seas for undefended merchant ships to destroy. Capt. Cameron's own ship, the Beluga, loaded with gasoline, San Francisco to Sydney, was overhauled and sunk near Australia. The captain and his wife and daughter and the 10 members of his crew were taken prisoners.

By Capt. J. Stanley Cameron,
Of the Late Merchant Ship "Beluga."

On Nov. 15 both steamers left the Caragos Islands, the Igatz Mendi going at a slow speed to a point 300 miles south of the Cape of Good Hope, and the Wolf followed the regular sailing vessel route, where, on Nov. 18, she captured and sank the American bark William Kirby of New York, Capt. Blum commanding.

The Kirby was en route to Port Elizabeth with a general cargo, the major part of which was automobiles destined for the African Christmas market. After transferring the crew, provisions and wheat foodstuffs were handily got at the bomb gang got in their work and at 5:30 p. m. on Nov. 18 the Kirby made her final bow.

On Dec. 6 we met the Wolf again for a short time, exchanged signals and received a further supply of canned crab, the Wolf having an inexhaustible supply which she had got from the Hitachi. We had so much crab that the very sight of a can of it was nauseating.

I am sure that should a waiter in a restaurant ever suggest crab to any of the ex-prisoners on the Wolf that he would have a very unpleasant time of it. During the night of the 11th the Wolf left us, taking a more northerly route than we.

At this time Lieut. Rose had told the Spanish ex-captain that we were en route to Trinidad Islands, Brazil, where the Wolf would get what additional coal she required and then visit the Igatz Mendi, should, after waiting 10 days at the island, proceed to Spain. This, of course, made us feel very happy, and I know that the Cameron family were overjoyed.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is a sign you have been eating too much meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, removing all the waste, also you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. Your rest is disturbed several times at night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jial Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then set fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness. Jial Salts is a life saver for regular man eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.—ADV.

YOUTH! YOUTH! YOUTH!

The Best Part of a Woman's Life—Why Should It Vanish Quickly?

Don't let your youth go! And above all don't lose your youthful appearance through old-fashioned prejudice. Women who a few years ago scorned the use of face powders or cosmetics now depend on them to keep a youthful appearance. And this is equally true of the hair color restorer. Constantly more and more women are using Q-Ban Hair Color Restorer to keep their hair dark and glossy and free from gray.

Q-Ban is not a dye. This you can prove by trying it on your combings. It stains them instantly. But Q-Ban has no immediate effect. Q-Ban is simply a delightful toilet requisite for restoring the natural color of the hair.

Q-Ban does not stain the scalp, wash or rub off or prevent washing or waving the hair. Easily applied by brushing combing through the hair.

Spain), we all felt very blue on Christmas day, which was not the enjoyable affair it would have been if everything had worked out as expected. I know I had the blues all Christmas, as I got to thinking about other Christmases I had spent under more enjoyable circumstances, which thoughts naturally didn't make me feel any more cheerful. Lieut. Rose was around bright and early, wishing us all a "Merry Christmas" and "Many happy returns of the day."

I intend next Christmas, if Rose is still interned in Denmark, to write him a letter, returning the compliments, and then he can possibly appreciate the subtleties of a joke of this nature. My wife wanted to stick a hispin in him when he came around with his "Many happy returns of the day." The German crew, too, appeared to be blue on Christmas.

New Year's Eve we all sat up to see the new year in, and one or two of us worked up enthusiasm enough to make a little noise, but the situation was so depressing that we soon subsided. Not so our German crew, however. They held high festival in the engineer's mess, having a bowl full of punch, whose chief recommendation was that its foundation was "Aguadent," and that it had an awful kick.

The Spanish engineer, who had a splendid voice, sang several songs, and the German sailors sang patriotic German songs. At about 2 o'clock on New Year's morning, some one woke me up by shoving a bottle of wine through the porthole for me, and later, on, around 3, another bottle made its appearance.

Some of the German sailor boys had imagined we were not happy because we had no wine. The gifts were received in the spirit in which they were sent.

This was by no means the only act of kindness shown my family and myself by the members of the crew. In fact, throughout the trip, officers and crew, with the single exception of Lieut. Rose, were very friendly toward us. The American contingent was decidedly popular, though they had no use for the rest.

As an illustration, on my birthday on Jan. 25 several members of the crew came and presented me with bottles of wine, and even Rose came across with a box of cigars. Several of the German crew had lived in America for many years; two had even taken out their first papers. And all of these talked enthusiastically of going back as soon as the war was over.

I was very much interested in trying to find out just what was the German opinion of America's coming into the war. Lieut. Rose used to stick his chest up in the air and say that the United States coming in would not make any difference in the ultimate outcome of the war, and that the only difference it would make was that the States would lose a lot of men and money.

Just the same, I am of the opinion that Rose knew that America's coming in spelled the finish of Germania, though of course he wouldn't admit it. One day at the table he said that the "Star-Spangled Banner," as he loved to call our flag, was only a joke, and that it looked like a grid-iron to him. I made the remark that possibly the Stars and Stripes would not prove the joke he imagined.

My retorts to sallies of this kind were very moderate, as I considered I was in no position to argue the point with him, and didn't want to lose any of my liberties. I was always afraid to start an argument with him, as I am very hot-headed, and knew that in the event of a row I was sure to get the worst of it eventually.

Rose used to laugh at the American soldier, saying we were crazy to imagine that we could take a man and make a soldier out of him in a year, and at best these men would only be cannon fodder, that Germany had proved it takes at least three years to make a soldier; also, that our submarines were mere toys, and as for submarine defense, just as soon as we figured out some Yankee patent to protect our ships, they (the Germans) would invent some other way to destroy them.

Rose believed that the submarine would eventually decide the war. It was pretty hard to sit at the same table and hear an enemy slam the American Government and not be able to hit back or even argue the point.

3-YEAR-OLD CHILD WHO IS "GUEST" OF POLICE

BABY MAY.

"BABY MAY," WHO CAN GIVE NO OTHER NAME, GUEST OF POLICE

"Baby May," about 3 years old, who can give no other information about herself than just that she is Baby May, is a guest at Police headquarters. Baby May was taken to a rooming house at 622 South Broadway at 5 o'clock yesterday evening by a boy in short trousers, who said that a woman had sent him and that she would call for the little girl. She did not call and the police were notified and the child was placed in the care of the matron at headquarters.

Mrs. May O'Toole of 2330 Division street told a policeman yesterday that a 2-year-old girl was brought to her Wednesday by a woman about 35 years old with blond hair, wearing a wine-colored suit and no hat, who said she had been sent by the Sisters of Mercy to ask Mrs. O'Toole if she would board the child for $4 a week. Mrs. O'Toole agreed and the woman went away to bring the child's clothing. She did not return. The Sisters of Mercy know nothing about the child.

At 10:40 o'clock last night Mrs. John Lechner, returning to her home at 525 North Spring avenue, found in a chip basket on the front doorstep a baby boy about three weeks old in a white coat and a white knitted cap. She turned it over to the police, who sent it to the city hospital.

EIGHT FARMERS' MARKETS TO OPEN HERE TOMORROW

Willie and Kiel to Be Among Speakers—Programs Include Parades and Concerts.

Eight farmers' markets in North, South and West St. Louis, where consumers may buy direct from the producer, will be opened with the accompaniment of parades and speechmaking tomorrow morning. All but two of these markets will operate for the first time this year. Senator P. W. Willey, newly appointed United States Senator from Missouri, will speak at the opening of Will Hunter Market, on Broadway between Winnebago and Osage streets. Mayor Kiel will attend the ceremonies marking the opening of the Water Tower Market, Twentieth street and East Grand avenue, and the Grand-Gravois Market at Grand and Gravois avenues.

Other markets scheduled to open are those at Jefferson and Lafayette avenues, Nineteenth street and St. Louis avenue, Sarah street and Easton avenue, Broadway and Schirmer street and Taylor and Easton avenues.

DUTCH EAST INDIES TO RESUME SHIPPING TO U. S.

Instructions to Governor-General Announced After Ministers Request Action.

AMSTERDAM, May 3 (By A. P.).—Telegrams were dispatched by the Chamber of Commerce of Amsterdam yesterday to the Dutch Ministers of Colonies and Foreign Affairs urgently requesting that shipping traffic between the Dutch East Indies and the United States be resumed immediately. The Minister of Colonies replied that instructions had been cable Wednesday to the Governor-General of the East Indies to the effect that traffic in the direction of America now may be resumed.

The request of the Chamber of Commerce was made on the ground that the accumulations of colonial products were assuming unmanageable proportions. Germany has guaranteed the safety of three Dutch vessels selected for sailing to America in exchange for three vessels to be brought to Holland with grain and flour from America, according to the Rotterdam correspondent of the Handelsblad. The ships belong to the same three companies owning the vessels coming to America.

JURY FINES JAMES KANE $500 FOR KILLING OF RICHARD WALSH

Verdict of Fourth Degree Manslaughter Returned; Defendant Pleaded Self-Defense.

A jury in Judge Falkenhainer's court today returned a verdict of fourth degree manslaughter in the case of James Kane, 25 years old, 1218 Elliot avenue, who killed Richard J. Walsh at 3725 Cozans avenue on Oct. 15, 1917, and fined Kane $500.

Walsh boarded at that address with Kane's mother-in-law, Mrs. Hattie Knox. Kane and his wife were living apart, and he went there.

accompanied by his brother, Andrew, and Dan O'Connor, 2237 Maiden Lane, to induce his wife to return home, according to his testimony at the trial, and Walsh assaulted him with a flower pot. He testified he shot Walsh of self-defense.

Mrs. Kane testified to the same effect. She said Walsh had often annoyed her and objected to her returning to her husband. O'Connor and Andrew Kane were indicted as accomplices to clear after the crime. Their cases are still pending.

PIMPLY? WELL, DON'T BE

People Notice It. Drive Them Off With Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a dark brown taste, a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; you will know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints, and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result.

Take one or two nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 40c and 50c per box. All druggists.

FOOD OBLIGATIONS FOR WOMEN

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., May 3 (By A. P.).—Mrs. Herbert C. Hoover, wife of the Federal Food Administrator, yesterday told the fourteenth biennial convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs that women of America must ever be mindful of the obligation before them, three points of which were most important: There must always be enough food in the home; there must be food for the American boys who have gone across the seas to fight the enemy; and there must be enough food to supply the soldiers of the other nations who are fighting against Germany.

ST. LOUIS FLYER, INJURED AT TORONTO, STILL UNCONSCIOUS

Relatives Notified That J. L. Hinckley, Who Fell 1700 Feet, Now Is Suffering From Pneumonia.
Relatives have been notified that John L. Hinckley, 26 years old, who was in the automobile business here until his enlistment in the Royal Flying Corps last October, had fallen 1700 feet Monday in a flight at Toronto, Canada, still was unconscious and that pneumonia had set in.
He resided at 5746 Kingsbury place with the parents of his wife, who was Miss Marjorie Squier, daughter of Edward E. Squier. They have two children. His mother, who was in New York, and his wife are at his bedside.
Hinckley went to Toronto after his enlistment, was sent to Texas for training, recently returned to Toronto and was expecting his commission.

City Items in Brief

Joseph Hass, 58 years old, of Hall's Springs, Mo., died at the city hospital last night from injuries suffered yesterday when he was run over by an Iron Mountain train at White House, Mo. He was booked at the hospital as an enemy alien. His wife resides in Germany.

City Councilor Dues and John Scullin, capitalist, yesterday were appointed members of the Missouri Defense Council by Gov. Gardner.

Four automobiles reported stolen yesterday afternoon and evening belonged to Mrs. Elizabeth Bush, 1227 Tower Grove avenue; William H. Gregg, 5323 Berlin avenue; Packard Automobile Co., 2200 Locust street, and Miss Nellie Griswold, St. Regis Apartments.

Miss Rose Holman of 4200 West Cook avenue told the police a highwayman stopped her at High and Wash street last night and took her purse containing $12 and a set of artificial teeth.

Garshaw Kossang, 76 years old, of 227 Dickens street, was killed yesterday from a Natural Bridge car at Leffingwell avenue and Dickson street last evening. His left hip and thigh was fractured.

James Collier, a civil engineer employed on the West End streetcar line, was killed yesterday afternoon. They matched coins in a saloon and when Collier exhibited a roll of bills one of the men snatched $35 from his hand and ran.

Joseph Wilson, 26 years old, of 109 South Fifteenth street, was arrested last night on a charge of having evaded the army draft. He admitted the police say, that he ignored an order to report at a cantonment last October. He was living at Magnolia, Pike County, Mississippi when he registered.

John R. Gorman of 2712 Hickory street told the police that when he was counting his money at Eighteenth and Papin streets last night a man snatched a $10 bill from his hand and ran off with it.

A flag raising and May festival will be held at Wesley House playground, 3035 Bell avenue, from 3 to 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. There will be folk dancing and 40 children will present a pageant, "The Battle Cry of Freedom."

The Jefferson-Park to Russell farmers' street market will be opened for the season tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock with business in front of the Barr Branch Library.

The St. Louis Symphony Society raised $16,000 at its first meeting yesterday as part of the fund needed to insure its activities for the coming season. An effort is being made to obtain advance subscriptions to the amount of $45,000, and officials of the society are confident it will be secured.

At the recent meeting of Washington University Corporation two members were added to the board of directors, making its numerical strength 15. They are Waldo Arnold Layman, president of the Wagner Electric Manufacturing Co., and Joseph Dayton Bascom, secretary-treasurer of the Broderick & Bascom Rope Co.

The officers, divisional chairmen, neighborhood captains and all workers in the movement to establish the National Hospital School for Cripples will meet this afternoon at Hotel Statler preparatory to the opening of their financial campaign.

T. S. Townsley of the University of Missouri will give a free address tonight at 8 o'clock at the Central High School on chicken breeding. It is the last of six lectures under the auspices of the United States Department of Agriculture, which is conducting a "Back Yard Poultry" campaign.

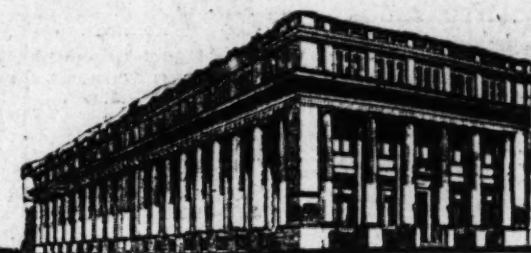

A Red Cross sewing room will be opened in Southampton, May 13, at 4619 Mackinock avenue in a vacant store room donated by Mrs. Anna Russell. The room will be open from 1 to 4 p. m. the first five days of each week.

The Morning Choral Club will give a concert recital tomorrow night at 8:15 at the Railroad Y. M. C. A. Twentieth and Eugenia streets, for the benefit of soldiers and sailors in the city. A ballet from Soldan High School will present the "Phoenician Flower Girl."

Tony Sopalecky, 34 years old, a laborer, was found dead today in his room at 1227 South Third street. He was kneeling at the foot of his bed. He was last seen alive April 27.

The funeral of Mrs. Amanda B. McCleery, 58 years old, a widow, who died Wednesday after a lingering illness at the home of her son, 4428 McPherson avenue, will be held at the home tomorrow. She was a descendant of a family of pioneer settlers of Western Pennsylvania, and her husband, J. R. McCleery, was one of the first merchandise brokers in St. Louis.

Favors Increase in Pensions.
WASHINGTON, May 3 (By A. P.).—Republicans of the House have adopted a resolution favoring early passage of legislation similar to the bill introduced by Senator Smoot, which would increase Civil War pensions to a maximum of $50. Speakers advocated the legislation to aid veterans in meeting the increased cost of living.

COUNTRY PRODUCTS AS CARD PARTY PRIZES

Remarkable Collection Donated for Tomorrow's Function for Aid of the French Wounded.

ONE of the notable social patriotic events which will bring forth a fashionable gathering will be the card party to be given tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at Mahler's, 4911 Washington boulevard, for the benefit of the American Fund for French Wounded. Mrs.
Alexander De Menil is general chairman of the affair, with Mrs. Louis Hayward in charge of the tables and Mrs. James M. Francis of the prizes. Mrs. John Fowler, assisted by Mrs. Walter McKittick, has charge of the lemonade, and Mrs.
Samuel Scott of the sandwiches.
The young girls who will serve are Misses Dorothy Walker, Katie and Mary Lou Crunden, Amy Rule, Didi
Gatz, Queenie Deacon, Marjorie
Scott and others.

Mrs. Francis reports a remarkable collection of country produce donated by the owners of landed estates in the nearby county, a number of rhododendron bushes, a little lamb, some very fine old French wine and many other handsome and useful things.
Many of the donations have come unsolicited, as the recent drive of our French soldiers and the magnificent stand they have taken has touched the hearts of every one and the response to an appeal which will help the French wounded has been most gratifying. Nearly 200 tables have already been subscribed for,
and among those who have reserved at them are Mrs. Charles Parsons Pe-tus, J. Lawrence Mauran, Howard Benoit, Thomas H. McKittick, James M. Francis, Louis Hayward, Robert B. Wallace, Dwight Davis, Harry Block and Eugene Cuendet.

Social Items

The most important wedding of the week will take place at 5:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, when Miss Edmonia Taylor Bryan will become the bride of Maj. Henry Wise Hobson. The ceremony will be very quietly performed at the Bofinger
Memorial Chapel of Christ Church Cathedral, with the Rev. B. T. Kemmer officiating. Miss Bryan will have for her only attendant Miss Georgette Madill, and Lieut. Henry

C. Bryan, the bride-elect's brother, will come from Camp Funston to serve as best man.

Following the ceremony there will be a small reception for the family and a few intimate friends at the home of the bride-elect's parents, 4242 McPherson avenue. The bride will wear a white satin gown and the same handsome lace wedding veil that was worn by her grandmother, the late Mrs. Francis T. Bryan, at her wedding. Miss Bryan is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Taylor
Bryan and was graduated from Mary Institute in 1914. She then spent a year at an Eastern finishing school, and since her debut has been one of the popular belles of society.

The wedding plans have been hurriedly arranged, as Miss Bryan only returned from Fort Riley on Tuesday, where she has been the guest of Col. and Mrs. J. D. Tilford.

Maj. Hobson will take his bride to Fort Riley until he receives orders.

Mrs. McKendree of New York, a sister of the bridegroom-elect, will arrive to attend the wedding and will be the guest of Mrs. Edward S. Robert of 4146 Lindell boulevard.

Mrs. Ray A. Burns of 5147 Ridge avenue, regent of Cornelia Greene Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, gave a patriotic luncheon in honor of Mrs. John Trigg Moss, Missouri State regent, on Tuesday.
Mrs. Moss has recently returned from Washington, D. C., where her election as State regent was confirmed, during the Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. Moss is a charter member and ex-regent of the Cornelia Greene Chapter and the guests included the members of the executive board.
During the afternoon the guests fashioned many hats which were given to Mrs. Moss to be used at a card party she will give at her home on May 22, for the benefit of the chapter war relief work.

Mrs. Clarence Groves, who formerly resided at 316 Skinker road, has gone to Omaha, Neb., with her husband, to reside. Mrs. Groves was formerly Miss Vera de Jong.

Mrs. Sadie Standing of 5219 Von Versen avenue has gone East to visit her daughters, Miss Gladys Standing and Mrs. Rodney Saylor.

One hundred and twenty-five tables ready have been reserved for the Visiting Nurse Association bridge party at the Ridgedale Country Club, although the benefit is not until Friday, May 17. It has been several years since the association has had any public benefit, and interest is general because of the excellent work it does among the babies of the congested districts and the sick poor.
Thrift stamps will be given as prizes,
all of which have been donated, and reservations for tables may be made with Mrs. Stephen B. Sheldon. The committee of the Board of the Visiting Nurse Association in charge of the benefit includes: Mrs. Sheldon, Mrs. S. M. Tipton, Mrs. W. W. Boyd
Jr., Mrs. John A. Haskell, Mrs. Joseph
S. Calfee and Mrs. F. A. Leland.

A wedding which took place on Wednesday morning was that of Miss Margaret Gleason, daughter of Mrs. Lois A. Gleason and Capt. Clifton Rodgers Dudley. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Charles Adams How of 5566 Clemens avenue, with whom she resides, and the Rev. Dr. Bunting officiated. The little niece and nephew of the bride, Margaret and James How, were the couple's only attendants. Mrs. Dudley is a graduate of Mount Holyoke and took a post-graduate course at Columbia University. Capt. Dudley is formerly from Hannibal, Mo., but has resided in St. Louis. He is an honor graduate of the University of Virginia and later studied in Vienna. He is an officer in the Medical Reserve Corps and will depart soon for service in France.

Maj. Leland A. Wind of the 340th Field Artillery, Camp Funston, Kan., is entertaining his mother, Mrs.
Frederick A. Wind of 4619 McPherson avenue, who will visit in Kansas City before returning home.

The College Club of St. Louis will hold its annual business meeting tomorrow afternoon at the Jefferson Memorial at 2:30 o'clock.

Your Want Ad. in the Post-Dispatch will find a tenant for that furnished room who will appreciate it.

A MIGHTY DRIVE ON ALL NEW SPRING CLOTHES

We are crowded for room! WE SIMPLY MUST HAVE MORE ROOM to take care of the hundreds of new Spring garments that continue to crowd in on us! When we bought this mammoth Spring stock we fully anticipated being able to make use of the 50,500 additional feet of selling space in our new addition. But the contractors disappointed us, and now we are forced to move these garments as fast as they are unpacked. In fact, the necessity for quick action is so urgent that we are literally compelled to shatter the prices on every Suit and pair of Trousers in stock. That is why it is possible for you to secure such wonderful bargains at the very height of the season! That is why everyone who has already taken advantage of this great sale has enthusiastically urged their friends to join the crowds of shrewd buyers and share in these immense savings! Read these prices! They tell the story!!

DRINK HOT WATER IF YOU DESIRE A ROSY COMPLEXION

Says we can't help but look better and feel better after an inside bath.

To look one's best and feel one's best is to enjoy an inside bath each morning to flush from the system the previous day's waste, sour fermentations and poisonous toxins before it is absorbed into the blood. Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of incombustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken each day leave in the alimentary organs a certain amount of indigestible material, which, if not eliminated, form toxins and poisons which are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which are intended to suck in only nourishment to sustain the body.

If you want to see the glow of healthy bloom in your cheeks, to see your skin get clearer and clearer, you are told to drink every morning upon arising a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, which is a harmless means of washing the waste material and toxins from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Men and women with sallow skins, liver spots, pimples or pallid complexion, also those who wake up with a coated tongue, bad taste, nasty breath; those who are bothered with headaches, bilious spells, acid stomach or constipation should begin this phosphate hot water drinking and are assured of very pronounced results in one or two weeks.

A quarter pound of limestone phosphate costs very little at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate that just as soap and hot water cleanse, purify and freshen the skin on the outside, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the inside organs. We must always consider that internal sanitation is vastly more important than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood while the bowel pores do.—ADV.

SPIRITUALIST SLATER "SO TENSE IT HURTS HIM"

Enjoys Grand Opera When in Such State, but When He Relaxes, Oh, My! He Likes Chorus Girl Show.

"ONCE TOLD KAISER THAT HE WAS CRAZY"

Great, Yes, He Has Been Married 30 Years and Wife Is Still Impressed With His Power.

John Slater of Oakland, Cal., clairvoyant, clairaudient, psychometrist, first apostle of spiritualism, self-styled counselor of mortal Kings and Emperors, confidante of immortal sovereigns and globe trotter, is in our midst. He is attending the State Spiritualists' convention at Planters Hotel and is giving to that assembly a psychic prestige it never enjoyed before.

Slater The Incomparable—he admits it—is also affectionately termed by his fellow spirit communicants the Marvel Mind of Modern Times. Wizard of Lily Dale, and Awful Tense.

A Post-Dispatch reporter yesterday found Slater when he was not so awful tense—or in one of his moments of relaxation—and here Slater did what his disciples say was most remarkable of all, condescended to be interviewed by a mere, mortal newspaper man.

Slater was addressing the convention when a reporter arrived and Charles F. Endor, magician, Slater's manager, press agent and buffer for intruders, volunteered some side-lights on the wizardry of his charge. "Slater won't be interviewed," Endor admonished. "It's too tense. He takes on everybody's condition with whom he converses, and if your condition didn't happen to be salutary it would have a bad effect on him."

The reporter would vouch for his own condition.

"Too Tense for Own Good." "That wouldn't help any," Endor explained. "Slater is altogether too tense for his own good. He's awful tense, and he would never consent to take on your condition for the mere purpose of publicity."

Mrs. M. E. Cadwallader, editor of the Progressive Thinker, a spiritualist publication, joined Endor and the reporter. After she had bestowed a few verbal encomiums upon the psychic powers of Slater she also declared an interview out of the question.

"Oh that marvelous man," she exclaimed. "If you but knew the extent of his powers; if you could but sense the scope of his vision!" "Why, he has such a hold upon humanity," Endor exclaimed, "that even the bell boys and porters of the Waldorf astoria paid him tribute at a monster message meeting he recently conducted there. That's Slater. To see him work would be more illuminating than a mere interview."

Just then Slater, who had finished his address, joined the group and right off gave an example of his penetrating vision.

"You're a newspaper man," he exclaimed, shaking hands. "Glad to see you. Darn it I wish I wasn't so tense," he added, drawing his hand across his forehead and blinking his eyes. "But I'll be all right in a moment," he added. "When I deliver an address I'm not quite myself; I take on everybody's condition, and it is a terrible strain—too great for the body."

"I was given to understand that you never consent to be interviewed," the reporter ventured. "I trust my condition will not disturb you."

"Regular fellow. Sometimes. That's all right," Slater assured. "Your condition is A1. I'm relaxing, anyhow. When I am relaxed I am a regular fellow. For example: When I'm tense I prefer grand opera, when in a state of relaxation, a leg show will do for me. That's the beauty of spiritualism. It all depends on one's condition. It is the religion of sunshine."

Slater is 57 years old, of medium size and wiry. He has silvery hair, sharp blue eyes and a shrill voice. He talks loud and very fast. He said his career has been so marvelous that even he could not fully comprehend its portent. He has traveled around the world five times, he said, and across the continent of North America 170 times as a missionary at large for spiritualism.

Told Kaiser He Was Crazy.

"Why, man, I've hobbled with the royalty of the world," he declared. "Queen Victoria came to me for counsel when I was sitting in London. She came incognito, but she couldn't fool Slater. I knew her by her hand. Oh, what a marvelous hand the Queen had! Kaiser Wilhelm also came to me, when I was sitting in Berlin. He's crazy, and I told him so. In fact, I told him he was destined to raise hell, and wasn't I right? Hasn't he done it?"

"The first Czar of Russia came to me for counsel and he got it. Slater gives it right off, without any ifs or ands. Whenever I went royalty came to Slater. That's the kind of people who believe in spiritualism."

Slater paused and remarked that he was getting tense, and Endor began.

"He is so wonderful," Endor remarked, beaming on Slater, "that he can tell you where you got the money to buy your Liberty Bond. That's psychometry. He sees and hears beyond this world, that's clairvoyance and clairaudience."

"By gad, Cad," exclaimed Slater, addressing Mrs. Cadwallader, "I actually suffer from this tenseness."

"Yes, Mr. Slater takes on the conditions of too many persons," Mrs. Cadwallader explained. "Mr. Endor and I have to look after him very carefully. He is just like a child. And he is in such demand wherever he goes, that we find it very difficult to protect him."

Married 30 Years.

"He has been married 30 years," she continued, "and his wife, after that long time, still marvels at his powers. Isn't that a test for you?"

Use a Real Blood Builder

A body, which has become poisoned and weakened by thin, impure blood, can't be restored to former vigor and capacity by a mere temporary tonic, or "pick-me-up." The blood must be made all over new, rich and red by a genuine blood reconstructive.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan

"The Red Blood Builder"

creates new, sturdy, red blood cells. These tiny boats carry oxygen up the blood-stream to all the body cells and tissues, nourishing them, charging them with new vigor, vitality, and purpose. If your health is below par because your blood is deficient in red cells, then Gude's Pepto-Mangan surely will help you. Gude's Pepto-Mangan is a splendid general tonic and appetizer, easily digested, promptly assimilated by the blood, exceedingly pleasant to the taste. Endorsed and prescribed by physicians everywhere.

LETTER FROM DEALERS IN FIREWORKS HERE

St. Louis Firms Present Their Side in Question of Eliminating Celebrations July 4.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

On Feb. 24, President Wilson said in reply to Representative Albert Johnson regarding celebrations: "I would say that I should be very sorry to see the Fourth of July celebrations omitted this year of all years, but at the same time, I think they should take the simplest and most dignified form, and that it would be in the public interest as well as eminently in good taste to make them as inexpensive as possible."

On invitation of United States Government, the fireworks manufacturers met with Mr. F. S. Peabody, assistant to director in charge of explosives to consider handling of fireworks for July 4, 1918.

The law enacted requires all dealers handling fireworks to take out license. License is required of consumers who wish to purchase the larger and more expensive items, and limited to children of American citizens from 16 years up. This license is issued by local authorities authorized by the Government.

On Feb. 8, 1918, through the United Press, there was flashed broadcast an erroneous ruling of the Department of the Interior, Bureau of Mines, Washington, D. C., causing newspapers throughout the United States calling readers' attention to this with headlines:

"Don't Fourth July to Be Noiseless Day."

"July Fourth Minus Noise. Fireworks Over There."

Mr. F. S. Peabody, assistant to the director in charge of explosives, Bureau of Mines, Washington, D. C., has replied to this in the following letter to the editor of the New York Evening Sun:

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 18.

"To the Editor of the Evening Sun:

"Sir—We wish to draw your attention to a statement contained in your publication of Feb. 8, 1918, headed 'No July 4th Fireworks.'"

"While certain restrictions have been placed around the manufacture and use at this time of fireworks, it is not the intention to absolutely cut off all fireworks and firecrackers for Fourth of July and other celebrations. To quote, in part, from the special rules governing: 'The manufacture, sale, exportation, importation and purchase of fireworks of all kinds and in any quantity will be under license and the foregoing rules will apply, excepting that no fireworks will be required for the purchase at retail of Chinese firecrackers, American firecrackers, toy torpedoes, serpents, sparklers or toy paper caps, when costing not more than 10 cents per package.'"

"F. S. PEABODY,

"Assistant to the Director in Charge of Explosives."

Every energy of the fireworks manufacturers at the present time is being devoted to Government needs for war purposes. The Government is anxious that all fireworks on hand be disposed of, amounting to several million dollars, in order that the great amount of money may go in circulation and be used for war material covering Government requirements.

The foregoing shows that the United States Government at Washington is in hearty sympathy with patriotic citizens of the United States, that the day we celebrate shall be kept alive and in full accord with the founders of our Great Republic as expressed by John Adams 100 years ago.

Local merchants have their stocks on hand and any agitation to alter the Government's action which was our guidance would result in a hardship.

SPRITUALIST SLATER

"SO TENSE THAT IT HURTS HIS FEELINGS"

Slater, himself, admitted that that was the acid test.

"I get all my information by inspiration, premonition and revelation," he explained. "I predicted the San Francisco earthquake six weeks before it occurred, and got out."

"When will the war end?" the reporter asked.

"I'm saving that for my book," Slater answered, "but I'll tell you this much: Germany will suffer a tremendous reverse about June 1, and that will be the beginning of the end. If I don't get to work on my book pretty soon, I shall announce through the press just when the war will end."

Appreciation Will Come After Death.

Slater was the leading medium last season at Lily Dale, Chautauque County, N. Y., a Spiritualist colony. He is attending this convention as a missionary delegate. Mrs. Cadwalader said the world would not appreciate him until surgeons dissect his brain after death and thus reveal his genius.

At a message meeting last night in the large banquet room of the Planters, Slater answered questions that had been submitted in sealed envelopes, and in conclusion made a patriotic talk in which he declared that "all Spiritualists shall stand behind the flag and contribute to the American Field Ambulance Fund until the Kaiser and his whole damned crew have been put down." He announced that Spiritualists had given 14 ambulances to the American Field Service.

"Spirit" messages also were given by Mrs. E. B. Price of St. Louis.

The convention will continue through Sunday with daily business sessions, and night message meetings, admission 25 cents, at the Planters.

Endor said he was a magician, and Slater pronounced him a good one.

Endor said his experience in the show business enables him to be of great service in protecting Slater from annoyance by the great crowds who come to him for counsel and revelation. Endor also arranges for private seances and receives the required $3 for this dispensation.

WOULD EXPEL POLES TO MAKE ROOM FOR GERMAN COLONIES

Deutscher Papers Urge Such a Course in All Occupied Territories to Restore Fatherland.

AMSTERDAM, April 17 (Correspondence of A. P.).—An unpleasant prospect for the peoples of territories occupied by the Germans is outlined in an article which has just appeared in the German newspapers, urging that they shall all be driven out to make room for German colonies. "Germany," says the article, "has been forced to destroy whole states, as if they were castles constructed of cards, and has thus lost blood from millions of wounds. Considering this, it cannot be wrong or immoral to expel the Poles from the territories of old Russia, so that we may prepare in those regions a new fatherland for the German refugees who have come from all parts of the world."

"The question is not one of morals. It is merely a political and economic program. The question is not, what shall we do with the nationalities of the occupied territories? But rather, how shall we proceed to group those territories so they may best serve the interests of Germany?"

"Let the latter consideration be the keynote of our reorganization of conquered lands wherever they may be situated."

EAST SIDE DEALER HELD FOR SHIPPING STOLEN TIN

Part of $48,000 Consignment for England Taken From Freight Car Last Month.

Philip Lipschitz of 1413 St. Louis avenue, East St. Louis, president and general manager of a large East Side junk concern, was arrested yesterday on a Federal warrant charging him with having transported from East St. Louis to St. Louis a large quantity of pure tin, with the knowledge that the metal had been stolen from an interstate shipment. It is charged that he transported 25 pigs of the tin, each weighing 120 pounds, the lot being valued at $27,500. The metal was part of a shipment valued at $45,000 stolen from a car in the East St. Louis Terminal yards, March 15. The tin was consigned to the British Consul at New York and was intended for export to England for use in manufacturing munitions.

Two negroes have been arrested and indicted by the Federal grand jury in connection with the theft.

Negro Executed in Oklahoma.

MALESTER, Ok., May 3 (By A. P.).—Henry Prather, negro, was executed at the State penitentiary here early today for the murder of Homer Chapman, a cellmate, last June. Prather had been sentenced to death in 1911 for the murder of W. H. Archie, a white man, in Oklahoma City, but his sentence was commuted to life imprisonment by former Gov. Lee Cruise, as he was mounting the scaffold.

Stop Corn Pains in Two Minutes By the Clock—Easy and Simple

THE MAGIC TOUCH OF ICE-MINT DOES IT. JUST A TOUCH STOPS THE SORENESS, THEN THE CORN OR CALLOUS SHRIVELS AND LIFTS OFF. TRY IT. YOUR FEET WILL FEEL COOL AND PINE.

Thanks to a new discovery made from a Japanese product your foot troubles can be quickly ended. Ice-Mint, as this new preparation is called, is said to shrivel up hard corns, soft corns or corns between the toes so that they can be lifted off easily with the fingers. Rub a little of any tender corn or callous. Instantly the soreness disappears and shortly the corn or callous will loosen so that it can be lifted right out with the fingers—root and all. No foot-lancet.

Ice-Mint is a clean, creamy, snow-white, non-poisonous substance and does not inflame or even irritate the most tender skin. There is no pain, smarting or even a bit of soreness while applying Ice-Mint or afterwards. It acts so gently, so magically that you will never want to run the risk of blood poison, by cutting a corn again. Ask your druggist for a small jar of Ice-Mint, which will cost little, yet is sufficient to rid one's feet of every corn or callous. You'll like it immensely. ADVERTISEMENT.

How Our Boys Won Their First Battle in France

"To teach the Americans a lesson," was one purpose of the German attack north-west of Toul on April 20th, so the German prisoners say, but the only lesson connected with the engagement as far as observant editors can see, is that the Yankees can meet about three times their number of German "shock troops" and send them back to their trenches pretty heavily depleted. The German blow was delivered against the junction of the French and American lines by special Saxon "storm troops"—the only first-class units, according to a French authority, east of the Picardy battlefield, outnumbered enormously, their lines swept by a hurricane of poison-gas and high-explosive shells, Pershing's men exacted a price for every inch of ground they yielded and ultimately recaptured by the fiercest kind of hand-to-hand fighting, all they had lost.

Read THE LITERARY DIGEST this week (May 4th) for a graphic report of the American soldiers' first big engagement and what America, France, and Germany think of their behavior under fire.

"The Digest" the Clearing-House for the World's News

From all parts of this busy earth the wires are constantly speeding the latest news of camp and court, of home and market-place, of every phase and variety of human interest, to THE LITERARY DIGEST. In four thousand editorial sanctums scattered about the face of the globe the greatest of news-magazines has an ear alert to catch the faintest whisper that may thrill a continent, and every week it records the results of this listening-in process for the benefit of nearly three million eager readers, who look to it as an unbiased interpreter of the life of the world. It tells them, and YOU with them, if you are wise enough to read it, all that you want to know of the war, of what our boys are doing at the front, of the activities here at home, of the work of the Red Cross, of the War Savings Campaign. If you would be intelligently patriotic and co-operate efficiently with the Government, read THE DIGEST.

We all want to see St. Louis made as nearly one hundred per cent loyal as united effort can make it! We want every man, woman and child to help!

On Friday and Saturday

May 3d and 4th, between 5:00 and 9:00 p. m., every home will be visited by a special Liberty Loan canvasser, and every person asked to lend his or her help by another purchase of bond.

No money will be asked for—none should be tendered—you will be handed a plainly printed blank, on which you can subscribe for

Third Liberty Bonds

EVERY PERSON is asked to supplement the call of the Liberty Loan representative by soliciting his neighbor, and, in case they have already bought, to see that they buy again, to the limit of their resources.

EVERY DRUG STORE will have Liberty Loan blanks, on which subscriptions may be registered. You can obtain these blanks for the asking.

EVERY PARENT is asked to buy a Liberty Bond for each child in the family. If they have already bought, let them buy again! It's the best insurance they can take out for the future of their children.

EVERY BUSINESS HOUSE is urged to form employees' committees to see that everyone in the establishment, including "The Boss," buys again!

LET EVERYBODY SOLICIT EVERYBODY, and roll up a maximum total for St. Louis.

NO POSTAGE REQUIRED! Subscription blanks for Third Liberty Loan Bonds are self-addressed, and require no postage. Just fill out the blank and drop it in the nearest mail box.

Join the President's Club

President Wilson, who has already bought Liberty Bonds to the limit of his resources, announces that he will buy another fifty-dollar bond on the TIME-PAYMENT plan, and asks that one million loyal Americans join him and buy—each of them—at least one more bond. Join the President's Club! Buy again!

Your Gray Hair Is No Longer Necessary

New, Clean, Easy Harmless Treatment. First bottle gives satisfaction

After having been tried and proven successful by hundreds of their customers, leading stores are recommending "Canute Water for Gray Hair" to those who wish the color of their hair restored. Famous Barr Co., Judge & Dolph Drug Stores, Wolff, Wilson Drug Stores, Stix, Baer & Fuller Dry Goods Co. sell it, and all questions one naturally asks are here plainly answered.

IS IT ABSOLUTELY SAFE TO USE? By all means—yes. You may use Canute Water for Gray Hair without the slightest fear of injury to the hair, scalp or eyes, as it contains none of the injurious elements of the ordinary hair dye, being simply a fine, clean, odorless and harmless oil or oil products of any kind. It is not a hair restorer, but a hair colorant, and as such, it is for external use only.

WHY IT SOILS THE HANDS OR SCALP? No. It will not. Our own patented process prevents it from staining the hands or scalp. Canute Water for Gray Hair is an especially clean, convenient treatment—not being sticky or greasy. It restores as naturally and gently as one will be able to tell you are anything.

IS IT A DYE? Positively not. That is just the thing it isn't. Canute Water is a simple and natural method of restoring the youthful color of hair that has turned gray from age, illness or other cause. Proof that Canute Water is not a dye is that it has no numbered shades—the same bottle is good for all shades of hair, while, as the reader knows, dyes are numbered 1, 2 or 3.

HOW IS IT APPLIED? Very easily. Just wet your hair with it and allow it to dry in good, fresh air. Nothing as simple as that. In the morning, after a shower, apply it to the hair, and by day, observe the hair becoming darker and darker. And by the time you have finished the first bottle the youthful color of your hair will be restored. It will then remain that way, and simply require a retouching once every week or two as the hair grows.

CAN THE DARKENED COLOR WASH OR RUB OFF? The color will not wash off. Shampooing the hair will not even wash it off. It will only be necessary to use Canute Water for Gray Hair once every week or two as the hair grows.

YOU'VE HAD IT FOR A WEEK YOU'LL THANK YOURSELF FOR HAVING TRIED IT. Sold at the shoe-shed stores for $1.00 a bottle or by mail direct. Friedman Canute Co., 27 East 2nd St., New York City.

GERMANY UNEASY OVER INCREASING TROUBLE IN EAST

Amsterdam Dispatch Says Overwhelming Difficulties May Shatter Brest-Litovsk Peace Fabric.

OPPOSITION GROWING, FINLAND TO UKRAINE

Crops in Latter Country Ruined by Peasants, It Is Said, to Keep Food From the Germans.

LONDON, May 3 (By A. P.).—There is grave uneasiness in Germany over the news from the East, where apparently the Germans shortly will be confronted with overwhelming difficulties that will shatter the whole fabric of the Brest-Litovsk peace, says an Amsterdam dispatch to the Daily Express. From Finland to the Ukraine there is ever-increasing opposition to German oppression.

Vienna reports, it is added, say that most of the Ukrainian crops were ruined by the peasants, who would rather starve than feed the Germans.

Finnish Press Calling for Establishment of a Monarchy. LONDON, May 3 (By A. P.).—Finnish newspapers are calling for the establishment of a monarchy in Finland, according to an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen. The Svenska Tidningen, the organ of the peasant party, openly advocates that a German Prince be appointed King.

Peasant Deputies Overthrow Ukraine Rada, Report From Berlin. AMSTERDAM, May 3 (By A. P.).—The old Ukrainian Government and Rada, according to advices from Berlin, have been overthrown by peasant Deputies, who arrived at Kiev, the Ukrainian capital. The new government immediately declared that it adhered to the Brest-Litovsk peace treaty.

Germans Occupy Sebastopol, Great Russian Fortress. BERLIN, May 3 (By A. P.).—German forces have occupied Sebastopol, the great Russian fortress in the Crimea. The official statement on the operation says: "In Ukraine we have broken the enemy's resistance before Sebastopol and occupied the town Wednesday without fighting."

Germans Seizing Able-Bodied Russians and Sending Them to Germany. MOSCOW, Thursday, April 25 (By A. P.).—Germany's barbarous treatment of the inhabitants of occupied territories and constant requisitioning of food are provoking great resentment and causing armed clashes. In a village in the Kiev district the inhabitants resisted Germany for three days with machine guns and rifles and were subdued by the use of armored motor cars.

In the government of Minsk the Germans seized able-bodied persons in the street and in their houses and are sending them to Germany in locked cars. Those trying to escape are shot. Inhabitants, panic-stricken, have gone into hiding. Streets in the towns and cities are armed camps with patrols of troops and machine guns everywhere.

SALVATION ARMY MAN ENLISTS Capt. J. C. McClanahan Is Sent to Army Training Camp. J. C. McClanahan, Captain of Corps No. 2, Salvation Army, Seventh and Market streets, has enlisted in the army and departed for a training camp. With but two exceptions he was the last single man of draft age doing Salvation Army work in the St. Louis district. The two other men have failed to pass the physical requirements for enlistment.

The Salvation Army claims to have over 50,000 members and officers fighting in the trenches with the allied troops. They have also 500 officers engaged in social, moral and religious work on the Western front where 500,000 are in operation, visited by an average of 200,000 soldiers daily.

2 FREED IN LIQUOR CASE Mannion Park Proprietors Were Acquitted. Edward Mannion and Thomas Brennan, proprietors of Mannion's Park, and Pierce Mathews, employed by them, charged with selling liquor to United States soldiers, were discharged yesterday in the United States District Court, and Lieut. Stinger and members of the gambling squad, who arrested them, were rebuked by Assistant United States Attorney Davis.

Two soldiers from Jefferson Barracks testified that they asked Mathews to sell them beer or whisky and he said he had none, but he went outside and returned with a negro, who went across the street and bought them a pint of whisky. The negro, Thomas Boyd, testified that Mathews told him to get the soldiers what they wanted. Boyd was held.

Mother Wants to Make World Safe for Babies; Writes Book Telling How

Her Own Baby Never Sick, Inspiration for Mrs. Mae Savell Croy's "1000 Things Mothers Should Know," in Which She Tells How "Common Sense" Methods Have Best Results.

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall.

MAKING the world safe for babies is the idea of an interesting young woman, Mrs. Mae Savell Croy, who has just written a successful and eminently practical book, "1000 Things Mothers Should Know." Mrs. Croy is the wife of Homer Croy, author and humorist, who is a Missourian.

The original reason for the writing of her book is now a plump young man of 26 months whose name is Creighton Croy, and who never has had colic, never has had tummy-ache, never has had a hard cold in his happy and physically efficient young life. "What I have learned and practiced taking care of him is what I have put into my book for mothers," confessed Mrs. Croy.

A mother herself, and the daughter of a mother who brought up six children in health and happiness, Mrs. Croy understands that, besides love, children have four chief needs—food, clothing, play and discipline. The scientific, common-sense methods of satisfying these four requirements are what she discusses in her book.

"Babies are the most important thing in the world," she told me earnestly, while blue-eyed baby Creighton trotted busily about the room or played with his military "Pershing." "Of course they always have been the most important thing, only not everybody has realized it. We are waking up now; the war has accomplished that. Here in this country we have begun 'The Children's Year,' a nation-wide campaign to save the lives of the babies who die unnecessarily. And all over the world governments are interest- ing themselves in babies, working for their protection and welfare."

"With a very few exceptions—such as babies born with congenital defects—every baby in the world can be well and strong. His fate usually depends on his mother. The responsibility for making him a strong, efficient member of the human race, or an unhappy weakling, rests on her. I owe my own health to the way in which my mother brought me up, down South." Mrs. Croy's book is not only a treatise on how to care for your physical health to the same cause.

"I do," I assured her. "Now, though there's no doubt mothers should know a thousand things, they have not learned your book, and there's a smaller number of things which mothers MUST know to be well? What would you select as the ledge for a mother?"

"Let's divide the twenty points into two groups," said Mrs. Croy. "Every normal woman knows how to take care of her child's first needs. She will not neglect the baby, feeding the proper food, wearing the proper clothes, playing in the right way and receiving suitable discipline. Suppose we make five fundamen- tal points under each one of these headings, considering food first."

(1) "A child's food must be simple. He must not eat rich desserts, or meat or real, and he should not have much candy. Of course, the main- thing is to give him the right kind of milk and the mother should nurse the young baby wherever that is possible."

(2) "A child's food should be balanced. He should have some starch, some fat and some green vegetable, chicken, lamb and beef juice, fresh fruits, whole wheat breads, eggs, and so on. Scientific dietitians will tell you how these foods may be com- bined, and a healthy child will be the result of it."

(3) "There ought to be simple, attractive foods, such as spinach, baked apples, stewed prunes, orange juice, in the diet of every child. The child should be fed with regu- larity with absolute regularity. Even babies should be fed at certain hours—not 10 minutes before or 10 minutes after meals."

(4) "The clothing of a child, even before a northern winter, must not be too warm. Modern houses are so well heated that a child's skin may be made unduly sensitive to the cold if he is too heavily dressed in the house."

(5) "There ought not to be any pins at all in a child's clothes. Pins can be replaced by tapes or buttons and as he grows older simple fas- tidings will help him to dress him- self."

(6) "Any clothing is the wrong thing for a child if it makes him uncomfortable. The question of play is most im- portant in a child's life," continued Mrs. Croy. "The right principles of play I should summarize as follows:

(1) "A child should play out- doors every possible moment. My own youngster, at 26 months, is out from 9 until lunch time and from 3 until 5."

(2) "A child's mother should be sure when he plays, but she should not interfere with him con- stantly."

(3) "As a child grows out of childhood he should be encouraged to play with other children as much as possible, for the influence on him will be most valuable."

(4) "The parents should make every sacrifice to give their child the best out of the city—either

THE SANDMAN STORY FOR TONIGHT BY MRS. F. A. WALKER.

Tessie's Trip to Topsy-Turvy.

TESSIE was getting ready to go on a visit to Aunt Ida, who owned a big estate down in Virginia—one with a wide lawn sweeping down to the river, great orchards of apples and peaches, and vast meadows, where herds of fat cattle grazed on the tender grass. So, of course, Tessie was delighted to go.

For days she was in a great state of excitement. And this made her usually untidy habits worse than usual.

"Now, Tessie," said her mother, the day before the child was to start, "I do hope you will not act at Aunt Ida's like you do at home. I have been too easy with you. I have allowed you to throw your things about in any old way. But you are getting too old now for that sort of thing. And I hope you will turn over a new leaf, so that Aunt Ida will be pleased with you."

Mrs. Gordon, Tessie's mother, did not add that it was Aunt Ida's intention to make Tessie a present of a two-year course in music if the girl pleased her.

When Tessie left her home for the train the chamber looked as if a cyclone had struck it. Everything was tossed in helter-skelter fashion on the chairs, floor and bureau. Towels were thrown in corners, hair, strings, matches and scraps of paper were in the bowl.

As Tessie rode down past the river and out into the wide fields she began to think of the way she had left the room. And as she rested her head back against the seat her face flushed with the idea of what she had done.

"It is a shame," she said aloud, "to leave that mess for mother to pick up after me. What will Aunt Ida think?"

Tessie felt a bump, then she was sent flying out of the window by the air.

"There must be a collision," she said to herself. "Something had happened. She was not in the coach at all, but running along a field toward a strange house. People were darting about, some chasing into the mansion with clothing and furniture, others of them half-clad, while others were running out of the place, with their dresses in their arms. Tessie entered.

IN the center of the room was an old woman most curiously garbed. On her head was a pair of shoes, a hat was bound around her feet so that she hobbled around painfully. A coat, put on upside-down, was on her back, while spectacles perched on her chin. Everyone was in confusion. Suddenly a train whistle blew; the people dropped their things and ran to the door, thinking of their neighbors' fell thumbing over the packages on the floor and all set up a loud noise. Tessie, disgusted, fled to another room, but this was worse. A hot stove stood in the corner and on this a man was trying to make ice cream. A girl stood before a refrigerator trying to comb her hair. A painter put his ladder on the bureau and climbed on a bed to paint the wall. Pictures were being hung on the ceiling. On the tables grew a pile of pumpkins in glass jars, while out in the yard was the sideboard full of dishes and bread. Everyone seemed dazed. Nothing was in order. Everything was confused, worried and absurdly uncomfortable. Tessie shivered. It reminded her of her own room. She thought how patient her mother had been, of how much discomfort she had created for her. And now she had little time to think, for behind her came a wild mob, shouting at the tops of their voices, and she set out to run. And run she did till suddenly the big, cool, orderly room of the hotel came back to her. She heard the conductor say: "This is your place to get off, miss."

How glad she was to see Aunt Ida's smiling face outside! And how comfortable and nice seemed the big, cool, orderly room! The lesson, Tessie good. She kept her room and clothing in order, no books and tennis rackets lying about. And when her stay was ended, Aunt Ida told her of a surprise.

"I had heard," she said, "that you were a most disorderly girl, and made your mother most unhappy, but I see it is a mistake. I am proud of you, and, as a reward, I will pay your tuition for two years at a music conservatory."

So Tessie found that her visit to Topsy-Turvyland brought her not only a reform in her habits but her knowledge of music, by which she intended that her future living in home life upon which foundation the contented marriage is built."

Judge Taylor would not mention a specific case in which the automobile had figured in a petition for divorce.

"They don't figure openly," he said. "Divorce proceedings, those of the default docket at any rate, as a sing-song in its monotony. We on the bench know we are imposed upon a great deal of the time. And while we may be able to see behind the technical charges the real causes, the time the disagreement reaches the court usually it is too late to do anything except grant the decree."

Nevertheless, to be forewarned is to be forearmed. It seems to me high time the automobile was pre- scribing for its day in the divorce court.

When that day comes, what kind of a case will it be able to make for itself?

I t may as well plead guilty at once to the charge that it does take people away from their homes. It will be asked where it takes them. To busines and back. Yes, but what of the country clubs, the wayside inns, the chicken farms, the restaurants, the cabarets? And what of apartment houses, whose popularity has grown so significantly since the automobile?

Does your husband talk in his sleep? Yes, but then he never gets the best of me. So do I."

No Chance for Him.

Automobile Is Making "Sloppy Women"— —DECLARES A DIVORCE COURT JUDGE—

Drawn for the Women's Page by Marguerite Martyn.

Fast Pace Takes Them Away From Home and Makes Them Careless of Manners, Conventions and Even Morals, With Resultant Domestic Tragedy, Judge Taylor Finds.

By MARGUERITE MARTYN

HOW far is the automobile deserving of indictment as a cause of divorce? I heard a rather severe arraignment of them the other day by an authority.

The authority was Judge Wilson A. Taylor of the Circuit Court. Or perhaps he is only a coming authority.

A homely fellow moved to deliver from the bench the other day on the folly of men in their forties marrying girls in their teens, led to the suspicion that the Judge might have in reserve other observations on the causes of marital dissension, just waiting to be expressed.

When I sought him out he confessed he had observations aplenty. The trouble was, sitting on the bench, he could not get up and deliver a sermon on the folly of men in their forties marrying girls in their teens, led to the suspicion that the Judge might have in reserve other observations on the causes of marital dissension, just waiting to be expressed.

What have these not necessarily unwholesome distractions to do with the automobile? Just visualize the lines of automobiles packed like sandbag revetments each side of several blocks on Delmar every evening of the world. Multiply that by similarly congested blocks in other popular localities—as many as there are picture shows, restaurants, dance halls, amusement places. Subtract the sum of the hours each motor car spends at these curbs from time that used to be spent at home, and not so far from home, and it makes quite a dent, doesn't it?

When one looks upon the crowd that throngs restaurants where you have to pay liberally for a table reservation, one wonders if there are any quiet, leisurely meals served at home any more. One is apt to conclude instead, why should there be, when it is so much easier and quicker and kayer and brighter to dine at the restaurant? If one must go home for a meal, why not pick up something ready cooked at a delicatessen store that one need not spend time at cooking that might otherwise be spent, eating up miles of boulevard and gasolene?

One may as well conclude, indeed, what's the use of having a house anyway when one spends so little time in it? Why not a little apartment, since one uses it for little except sleeping.

Living in a rented apartment does not permit of accumulating the property which once was considered the proper basis upon which to build a home. But what one does not put into real estate one can put into an automobile. When one's fortunes outgrow one's car, why, one can get a newer, finer automobile seems to create an appetite for a change of cars every season. Indeed, one must have next year's improvements if one does not want one's motor property to deteriorate. Having got rid of a troublesome house, that part of life is much simplified. A thousand and one interests that haven't anything to do with domestic matters rush in to fill the void. Suppose there are children to tie one at home. But apartments are no places for children. They must be dispensed with along with the roomy house. Besides, one cannot afford children. What is left from keeping the car up to the minute is needed for restaurant bills and for clothes. One must have clothes when one is out all the time. The restaurant, the hotel dinner dance which anyone may attend whether invited or not, the cabaret and all the other places where one is conspicuous, require all the clothes one can lay one's hands upon. One must make one's self more attractive than other men's wives or one's husband may be casting his eyes in their direction. And when one is more attractive than other women, one discovers there are eyes more appreciative than one's own husband's. Of course, flirtations are likely to follow. And flirtations lead to divorce.

And there you are in Judge Taylor's court.

And suppose one member of the family resurrects a longing to stop at home with supper, paper and pipe? (I am speaking from the woman's viewpoint, since Judge Taylor does not say anything about the auto making "sloppy" men.) What an imposition on the rest of the family which wants to be out. How selfish of one of the other. And men's selfishness reasons for quarrelling and

Mush Biscuits

A WOMAN signing herself "A Hoover-ist" sends the following from New Haven, Mo.:

"The Red Cross ladies of New Haven gave a community lunch for the benefit of the R. C. here a few weeks ago, which cleared $260. One of the ladies had a little surprise lunch in the form of hot mush biscuits that proved so good they were the talk of the town. So we're all making them successfully, and for the good of U. S. A. and also to help Mr. Hoover I want to pass the biscuits along. As I am unable to pass the real thing I will substitute the recipe."

Mush Biscuits.

When cooking potatoes for the noon meal, set aside one cup of potato water, also put an yeast cake to soak in a cup of warm water. In the evening make a mush, using 1 quart of boiling water, to which has been added 1/4 of a cup of lard, butter or any fat substitute, and 1/2 cup of sugar; make mush thick and cook well done. Set aside to cool.

When cool add potato water and yeast, stirring well. Set aside to rise over night.

In the morning add enough flour and salt as in making light bread and knead; set in a warm place and let rise again. It is now ready for use.

About 2 hours and 15 minutes before it is needed take enough of the dough for the meal knead and roll out with rolling pin, cut with biscuit cutter, lay on greased pan, grease tops of biscuits and let rise 2 hours; bake 15 minutes in a hot oven. Dough if kept cool will keep a week and be always ready for use. Try them; you'll find it a delightful way to help win the war.

Shaving Lather Antiseptic.

According to an English authority lather applied to a man's face after shaving has such high antiseptic value as to destroy even the bacilli of typhoid fever.

Clothes don't make the man, but still a uniform seems to help a lot. —Philadelphia Record.

Doesn't quarrelling lead to divorce? Probably there are more roads than one which leads to Judge Taylor's court by automobile.

One does not need the high vantage point of a Judge with his superior perspective on other people's lives to trace these sequences of events which you are bound to admit are not novel. One does need the cultivated disinterestedness of the legal mind to pass judgment on the case of automobile vs. domesticity.

Doubtless there are other sides of the case and ample proof that Cupid does hang on or is able to tune his wings up to the speed of the high-powered motor. Judge Taylor, however, evidently has observed instances wherein Cupid has been rudely bumped off or outdistanced or left forlorn and hungry at home.

Supposing the Judge should exercise his right to interrupt one of the sing-songs of which he speaks and unearth a real co-responder he has under suspicion. The automobile would better be preparing its defense!

Anecdotes of Liberty Loan Sale Entered for the Prize of $100 Bond

FOLLOWING are some more anecdotes sent in to the Post-Dispatch in the contest for the $100 Liberty Bond, offered for the best true story of the sale of a Bond of the Third series. Details of the offer are printed elsewhere in this paper.

Her Prayer Answered.

WHILE selling Third Liberty Bonds was amused at a remark a lady made when her brother, a retail grocer, said to me, "Mr. Ely, I will take a hundred-dollar bond for my sister."

She was so delighted that she said to him, "The Lord increase your store and put it in your heart to give me more." Of course, this caused a little laugh, but the best laugh came a few days after, when the brother met a friend who had paid him a bill that he had given up all hopes of ever collecting. He then called on me and told me to make it $500 instead of $100. The sister then said, "If I get my wish that we gain our victory as quickly as that I will be the happiest woman in St. Louis."

Appeal Through His Son.

IN making a drive on Liberty day to make our office a 100 per cent Liberty Bond office, I noticed that one man was not wearing a button, and calling him to my desk, I asked him if he would not buy a bond, and his reason for not buying was that he could not afford it.

Glancing at the lapel of his coat I noticed that he wore a service button, with one star in it, and upon being questioned he said that his only son was in the army, and was possibly on his way to France by this time, but that he had not bought any of the three issues of bonds in order to back up his son.

This man had given his son for the service, but had not given a penny in order to support that son while he was gone, and I asked him if he would have the heart to look his son in the face when he came back home after the victory had been won, and tell him that he had not bought a bond in order to help him win the fight for liberty, or if he felt that he had a right to stand on the curb and watch our boys, and among them his boy, go by, carrying Old Glory, unless he sacrificed something to buy a bond.

"Your son gave up a good position and a bright future. He is willing to give his life in order to help make this a fit country to live in, and so far you have not invested as much as $50 in bonds." When these things were pointed out to him he signed his name on the dotted line for a $50 bond, and as soon as he put on the button I think he was about the happiest man I had talked Liberty Bonds to.

Fast-Working Ballplayer.

D. R. STIX, working in the interest of Liberty Bonds, requested to be allowed to speak to the St. Louis American League ball players in the clubhouse. He was given permission to speak to the boys.

The players all invested in Liberty Bonds immediately after Mr. Stix finished his talk. It was then decided that it would be an excellent idea to introduce the players from one of the booths in the downtown district during the busy noon hour, and have the players work as bond salesmen. The players also agreed on this suggestion.

Mr. Stix made a speech about Liberty Bonds at Sixth street and Locust. Then he introduced the players. Urban Shocker wanted to get off to a running start over his teammates. In order to do this he requested Mr. Stix to purchase a bond, and much to the surprise of Shocker he sold a bond before he stepped down from the platform. Yours very truly,

WILLIS E. JOHNSON.
